City's Cafes Closed at Night To Help in Gas Emergency

Expect Compliance Continued Until Crisis Eases.

Marion cafes prepared to close again tonight at 8 o'clock for the second night in compliance with a request of Ohio Fuel Gas Co. officials for their continued cooperation during the gas emergency.

Marion bars and grills that heat with gas were notified by special messenger yesterday of the gas company's request and were quick to cooperate with the early closing almost 100 per cent. The request was that the cafe operators cut temperatures in their establishments as low as possible without freezing merchandise.

In view of last night's response by the cafes, C. E. Sechrist, Marion manager of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., stated that full cooperation tonight in the early closing plan seemed assured. The company requested cooperation throughout the emergency.

The closing request has been directed toward places using gas for heating purposes. This included all but a few of the cafes.

Local theaters, all of which use coal for heating, have not been affected by the gas emergency.

Instructions Made General

The "cut to just over freezing" request is being extended to other business houses today.

"All merchants are asked to reduce store temperatures to just above 'freezing,'" Sechrist said. When queried concerning an Associated Press report of authorization from the federal power commission for Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. to supply Ohio Fuel Gas Co. with an additional 15 million cubic feet of gas, Mr. Sechrist said the effect locally would be very slight. The Toledo-Perrysburg area would be more benefitted because it would be closer to the supply source of the gas, he believed.

"Under present conditions, any aid is welcome," he added.

Another Bucyrus Plant Down

In Bucyrus a second major industry shut down today in the gas conservation move. Approximately 800 employes of the Swan Rubber company went home today, joining those from the General Electric company lamp works plant who were furloughed Wednesday, an estimated 1,600 workers in all.

With tomorrow's forecast of somewhat colder weather, rising temperatures won't bring relaxation of natural gas restrictions by utilities, the Associated Press reported. They plan to take advantage of any respite to build up pressures.

An estimated 35,000 workers remained idle in Ohio because of gas curtailments to industrial users. Most of those laid off—12,000—were in Cincinnati. Dayton reported 3,500 idle; Toledo 2,600, Warren 2,300 and Massillon 2,000.

Gas supplies neared the vanishing point last night amid these developments:

▶Paul F. Welland, a state utilities commissioner, blamed the shortage on a federal power commission order last July, diverting 20,000,000 cubic feet daily from the big and little inch pipe lines from the Appalachian area to Illinois, Michigan and Indiana.

▶C. I. Weaver, president of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., which serves half of the state, reported from Washington that Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. agreed to furnish 15,000,000 cubic feet daily to replenish Ohio fuel's dangerously low supply.

"Home-heating users of gas in Ohio will be without fuel if this cold wave continues while industries in Indiana, Michigan and Illinois still operate," Welland asserted.

He accused the FPC of diverting gas "because it meant dollars and cents to companies there."

"If the FPC had not taken such action," he continued, "there would be five billion cubic feet more in storage now in the Appalachian area."

Two Below Here

Thermometers dropped to two below zero last night for the third successive night as Marion and the state shivered in the grip of the unabated cold wave. Forecasts of colder weather tonight and snow Friday gave no hope of relief from the icy blasts.

The temperature here rose from 2 below zero during the night to 7 above by 8 a. m. Sunshine this morning brought the temperature at noon to 15 above zero to top yesterday's high of 17. The high of a year ago was 37 above, and the low 16.

Nothing from the survey cold appeared to be grouped for some areas.

WHERE DAM DIKE WILL CUT THROUGH WALDO. The sketch above, made in the office of County Engineer Walter W. Johnson, shows the location of the dike planned by Army engineers to guard Waldo against flood conditions during time of high water level in the Delaware dam area. The proposed "cut-off" linking state routes 23 and 98, made necessary by the course of the dike, is marked. Also shown is the alteration in the river channel proposed by Waldo residents to avoid running the dike through the village. This proposal was rejected by the engineers.

Asks Support Of Tax Cut Bill

Rep. Knutson Makes Direct Appeal to Democrats To Forsake Truman.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—Rep. Knutson (R-Minn) today made a direct appeal for Democrats in congress to split with President Truman on the big election year tax-cutting issue.

He declared his bill to lower income taxes by $6,500,000,000 is needed to help meet the high cost of living and "preserve the American system."

"Do not be misled again," Knutson told the Democrats in a prepared speech leading off debate on the measure.

"If there ever was need to encourage production to combat inflation it is today.

"If there ever was a need to provide relief to the individual income taxpayer from the oppressive war income taxes which are stifling initiative and preventing business expansion, it is today."

Last year President Truman twice vetoed bills by Knutson, who is chairman of the ways and means committee, to trim taxes $4,000,000,000 a year. Enough Democrats held the party line in congress to uphold the President.

Knutson argued that the President himself has been "amazingly inconsistent" on the tax issue.

Mr. Truman has given every sign that he will veto any measure along the lines of Knutson's. Instead, he has suggested a $40-a-person "cost of living" tax cut. To balance this, he asked $3,200,000,000 of new taxes on corporations.

Before the debate began, Speaker Martin (R-Mass) said an income tax cut this year is in the bag.

Waldo Dike Bids To Be Opened Monday.

The Army corps of engineers is to open bids in Huntington, W. Va., Monday for construction of a 6,500-foot dike to protect the village of Waldo during high water stages in the Delaware flood control dam area.

Construction of the dike, expected to be underway by spring, is the last major engineering task involved in the huge dam project started in April 1946.

Negotiations are being completed for purchase of the necessary rights-of-way for the dike through the project land purchasing office in Delaware. Located on the right-of-way, which runs through the east side of the village, are three residences, two liquor establishments and several garages and sheds.

Appraisal of the property was made by a board of four, including three local residents and one federal representative. They are Emmett L. Trout of near Marion, W. W. Goff of near Richwood, Wayland F. Ryant of Cheshire and D. D. Secrist, a federal representative.

Over Mile Long

The huge dike will be more than a mile in length and will average approximately 110 feet in width and 12 feet in height, with an elevation of 954 feet above sea level, seven feet above the top of the dam.

Construction of the dike calls for approximately 20,000 cubic yards of common excavation, 185,000 cubic yards of borrow excavation, 170,000 cubic yards of embankment, 12 acres of seeding and 50 yards of embankment reinforced with stone and timber.

It will begin about a half mile south of the village corporation limit and parallel Route 23 north into the village. Crossing route 98 inside the village, the dike will continue north through the east side of the village and terminate about half way between Tong's Implement store and the Shell Service station.

ANNUAL WAGE BATTLES NEAR CLIMAX AGAIN

Eight Major Unions with Million Members Involved in Negotiations.

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—The annual labor-management wage battle may hit its climax in April this year in negotiations involving at least eight major unions and well over two million workers.

A survey indicated today that within 60 to 90 days the nation is likely to be in the midst of disputes covering the steel, coal, railroad, automobile, telephone and electrical industries.

The CIO United Automobile Workers and the CIO Electrical Workers already have served notice that they will seek "substantial" third-round pay boosts.

Walter Reuther's UAW will start its drive for a 30-cent hourly boost from General Motors in March while shortly thereafter the Electrical Workers will move against GM, General Electric and Westinghouse.

Murray To Play Role

CIO President Philip Murray who also heads the Steel Workers Union of nearly a million members, will meet with his policy committee next month to draw up wage demands.

Steel negotiations probably will begin in April, but a strike is blocked by the present contract for another year.

A spokesman for the Independent Communications Workers of America said that 60-day notices reopening contracts of approximately 200,000 telephone workers probably will be filed next month.

The telephone wage agreement expires during a six-week period from April 1 to mid-May but the Taft-Hartley law requires a two-month advance warning on a desire for negotiations on new pacts.

The current railroad controversy also may reach its climax in April. The engineers, firemen and switchmen demand a 30 per cent pay boost and changes in working rules.

Truman Names Board

President Truman has appointed an emergency board to handle the case.

The biggest enigma in the labor picture is United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis. His contract runs until next summer but can be reopened on 30 days' notice.

If Lewis abides by the Taft-Hartley law, he would have to serve notice Jan. 31 in order to reopen the agreement April 1—traditional deadline for the 400,000 soft coal miners.

The UMW chief might choose to ignore the 60-day provision in the new labor statute however and stick to the 30-day notice clause in the existing coal contract.

Another major union, the CIO Packinghouse Workers, already has begun negotiations with the Armour and Swift companies for a 29-cent hourly wage boost.

The union will meet with other packers next month.

LINCOLN DAY DINNER SPEAKER ANNOUNCED

Willis, Former Kentucky Governor, Coming Feb. 13.

Guest speaker for the annual Lincoln Day dinner to be held here Feb. 13 will be Simeon B. Willis, former Republican governor of the state of Kentucky. He will come here from Washington especially for this meeting and then will return to his duties the following day. He is serving on an important federal committee in Washington.

Senator Owen Brewster of Maine had previously been secured as the speaker, but he was forced to cancel a tour through this section of the country because of senate committee meetings recently scheduled.

Attorney General Hugh Jenkins is to preside as master of ceremonies at the dinner and other entertainment is being arranged. The dinner is to be at 6:30 p. m. in Wesley Methodist church.

Tickets are now available and can be obtained from Walter Guthrie in the county commissioner's office, Lester Watt in the county engineer's office, and Harry Mounts in the county auditor's office.

Arrangements for the dinner and program are in charge of the Marion County Republican club.

MARCH OF DIMES FUND HITS $3,374

School Children Make Contribution of $223.

Contributions amounting to $223.25 from pupils of the Marion public schools, a gift of $50 from an organization and returns in today's mail packets brought Marion county's infantile paralysis fund to $3,374.65, Virgil F. Dye, county chairman of the 1948 campaign reported today.

The gift of $50 was from the Greek Community of Marion, an organization made up of persons who are natives or descendants of natives of Greece.

Parochial and county schools will be heard from tomorrow or Saturday, Mr. Dye states. While the mail packets are being returned with generous contributions, there are many of the 14,000 mailed out from the Central fire station at the beginning of the campaign, which have not been returned, the records show. "We are hoping these will be returned not later than Saturday, the date for the close of the campaign, the chairman said today.

The coin containers, placed in the business district at the start of the campaign, will be collected at the close of the campaign.

Wyandot Co. War Prisoner Must Go Back To Germany

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 29—Otto Karl Preis, ex-German war prisoner, will be deported to Germany within a month, immigration officials said today.

Preis was brought to this country in 1944 following his capture in Italy, was returned to Germany after the surrender, then came back to America as a stowaway, the FBI said.

Harvey Rogers, a farmer at Upper Sandusky, O., gave him a job after he hitch hiked there, immigration officials said, and tried to obtain his release following his arrest at Sycamore.

But Arthur Triana, head of the local immigration and naturalization office, refused on the ground that Preis had illegally entered this country.

Rogers had come here under the misunderstanding that if he posted $500 bond the ex-war prisoner would be permitted to apply for [illegible]

FIRE-RAVAGED ARMY FUNERAL SHIP SINKS

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Jan. 29—The Army funeral ship Joseph V. Connolly went adrift from a tow line today off Cape Race, Nfld., and sank, the Coast Guard reported today. The ship, previously ravaged by fire, was under tow for New York.

The Coast Guard said the towing hawser slipped off a towing drum on the commercial tug Curb. Almost immediately, the Coast Guard said, the Connolly disappeared from the cutter Acushnet's radar scope. The Acushnet was accompanying the Curb.

Earlier, the Acushnet said, it was noted heavy seas were flooding the Connolly's after hatches. A gale was blowing and heavy snow squalls were prevailing when the Connolly disappeared, the Coast Guard said.

The crew was rescued.

The Memoirs of Cordell Hull

Tariff Bargaining Weapon Taken From Mr. Hull at London

By CORDELL HULL

(Copyright, 1948, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

INSTALLMENT IV

AS I ENTERED the state department our government was already preparing for the economic conference to be held in London. The preparatory meetings under the auspices of the League of Nations had been held at Geneva, and an elaborate agenda drawn up. By way of further preparation, the President invited 11 nations with whom we had large commercial relations to send representatives to Washington to discuss economic questions with us.

The President, in a radio address on May 7, 1933, listed four objectives in the talks. They were Reduction of armaments; cutting down of trade barriers; stabilization of currencies, in order that commercial firms could make contracts ahead; and reestablishment of friendly relations and greater confidence between all nations. In addition, the President and Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain had a special conference on war debts, with no results accomplished.

My participation in war debts was small. The President had confided this subject to Assistant Secretary Raymond Moley. It was more a treasury than a state department question, I felt, and besides, I believed war debts were becoming a dead horse. I was content not to be too involved.

At about this time Moley came one morning to my apartment. His face was serious and he proceeded to say to me that he did not seek my position as Secretary of State, contrary to any rumors to that effect. After he left I remarked to another visitor, "Moley at least has the subject on his mind." This was later confirmed in numerous ways, culminating at the London conference.

At the beginning of May, 1933, with the President concurrence, I instructed Mr. Norman Davis, then in London, to propose a temporary tariff truce to the organizing committee of the London economic conference. Other nations backed and filled, but finally accepted, with various reservations and interpretations.

ON MAY 20 MOLEY suddenly made a radio speech, without consulting me in any way, before or after, in which he definitely discounted the beneficial results to be obtained at London, even if the conference should be successful. He said foreign trade was of little importance. This speech was broadcast throughout America as the actual position of the administration—to the prejudice of the position later embodied in the instructions to the American delegation to London. And it was broadcast repeatedly through Europe, thereby impairing the stand-

TRUMAN ASKS POWER TO ALLOCATE GRAIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—President Truman has prepared a special message to congress asking continued power for the government to say how much grain can be used for whisky-making.

The White House said the 2,500-word message to congress will be sent up to the house early this afternoon. The senate is not in session today.

Present government power to control distillers' use of grain will end Saturday. Congress voted it last fall because of the grain shortage and the Truman administration's campaign to save grain for food for Europe.

The senate has passed a bill to continue the power through February, but the house banking committee has pigeon-holed it.

Seeks Way To Ease Fuel Oil Shortage

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 29—The governor's oil advisory committee met here today to try to work out a way to ease the shortage of furnace oil.

Eric V. Weber of Cincinnati, chairman, said the 22-member group hoped to have some plan to present to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert late this afternoon. Max Ball, director of the oil and gas division of the department of the interior, has given the committee "the green light to do everything except fix prices."

ADVISES PAY BOOST FOR RAIL EMPLOYES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 — A presidential emergency board recommended today the short line railroads grant a 15½ cent an hour wage increase to non-operating employes.

The White House made public the recommendation, which is similar to a recent arbitration award for non-operating employes of trunk line railroads.

The boards' report, filed with the President by Chairman Grady Lewis, proposed making the increase retroactive to Sept. 1, 1947.

The case involved a dispute between 18 short line roads and 17 unions of non-operating employes such as telegraphers and maintenance workers.

Singing Stars Delight Large Audience in Opening Concert

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Last night was a very special night at the Palace theater for it not only ushered in the Marion Community Concert association's 1948 season but brought Dorothy Kirsten, opera star and lovely young soprano, and Eugene Conley, tenor, in a program not soon to be forgotten.

If the audience that filled the theater gave the artists a warm welcome and there certainly was no lack of enthusiasm, it was equally true that Miss Kirsten and Mr. Conley repaid the compliment with music that lacked nothing in the way of voice and dramatic ability. This, plus the soprano's charm of manner and beauty, and Mr. Conley's winning lyric tenor voice which he used with rare skill in a wide, dynamic range, and his genial personality, gave the audience a rare evening of music.

At the insistance of the audience they returned to the stage to sing encores throughout the evening, and sharing in the well-deserved applause was Marcel Frank, pianist, whose sympathetic accompaniments did not go unappreciated.

Opening Number

Mr. Conley opened the program with an area "Recondita armonia," from "Tosca," by Puccini. Following this he departed from the program and instead of the Mozart composition sang the aria from the opera "L'Africana" by Meyerbeer, which met with the hearty approval of the audience.

Miss Kirsten chose "Care Selve," from Handel's opera "Atalanta," for her first number. Completing the group were "Se tu m'ami," by Pergolesi, a folk melody, "The Nightingale and the Rose," by Rimsky-Korsakoff and a gay aria, Gavote from Massenet's opera, "Manon."

To close the first half of the program Miss Kirsten and Mr. Conley returned to the stage to sing the duet, "O soave fanciulla," from the first act of Puccini's opera "La Boheme."

An aria by Miss Kirsten, a group of four numbers by Mr. Conley and a duet made up the last half of the evening's program. Especially beautiful was Miss Kirsten's singing of "Depuis le jour," an aria from Carpentier's opera "Louise." Mr. Conley combined humor with the lovely in his selections with a merry tale of "Finnegan's Wake" by Bone and Fenton. His more serious numbers were "Ah, Moon of My Delight," from "In a Persian Garden," by Lehmann, "Swans," by Kramer and "Beloved," adapted from Rubenstein's "Romance," arranged by Conley-Frank.

In "Madame Butterfly"

The lovely duet, "Vogliatemi bene," from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," in which butterfly, after being denounced by her family, is consoled by her lover, Lieutenant Pinkerton, was programmed as the closing number.

Mr. Conley's encores included "Danny Boy," an Irish folk tune and "La Donna e mobile," from Verdi's "Rigoletto," and Miss Kirsten sang "One Kiss," from "New Moon" by Romberg "Nightingale," and a Kentucky folk song and their duet numbers were "Will You Remember?" from Romberg's "Sweethearts" and "Sweethearts" from Victor Herbert's "Sweethearts."

Miss Kirsten's gown of blush pink silk jersey over emerald green taffeta set off her blond loveliness and honey-colored hair. The sleeveless gown had an off the shoulder bodice and the artistically draped skirt swept into a deep train. She was presented a bouquet of red roses following her first number.

Guest at Luncheon

Miss Kirsten, Mr. Conley, Mr. Frank and Miss Kirsten's secretary, Mrs. Jean Poramier, were guests of the concert association board members at a luncheon this afternoon at Hotel Harding. They were to leave this afternoon for Detroit, from where they will continue the concert tour.

Later this year Miss Kirsten will go to Europe for appearances in Paris and Rome.

The next concert in the Marion series will be given next Wednesday night when Paul Draper and Larry Adler will appear in a joint music and dance recital.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

A LADY who says she is a "beauty engineer" has done a traveling bachelor a favor. She's come up with a list of ten ties where she says you can find the best dressed women.

This bedecker of American style-conscious communities has been compiled by Mrs. Veronica Dengel, president of the American women's institute. Mrs. Dengel, who is 46, five-feet-eight inches tall and darkhaired, has written books on "hold your man" and other problems of the harried sex. Her institute does a small order business in advice to fashion-lorn damsels who can't get to the big city.

Hal Boyle

A poll of 500 fashion leaders throughout the country, she said, disclosed that the three cities with the lowest rating for well-dressed women were:

(1) Boston—"Slow, too cautious, never catching up until a fashion is well established."

(2) Chicago—"A mixture of good and bad fashion where east and west meet."

(3) Palm Beach (yes, Palm Beach)—"Surrounded by beauty in clothes, but not properly affected by it"—whatever that means.

How to get on to the places where a fellow can make a date and be fairly sure the gal will show the most "ingenuity in dress, newness of style and wear proper fashions best suited" to her personality. Here they are in the order Mrs. Dengel lists them in her own fashionable prose:

(1) NEW YORK CITY—"The sophisticated new look"—where women who are the nation's fashion leaders accept new styles and try them willingly.

(2) Atlanta—"The soft southern look"—They couple smart fashion with southern grace and dignity.

(3) Miami—"The provocative look"—They adapt the new and colorful in fashion to their colorful-city needs.

(4) Detroit—"The mature look"—The women are anxious to improve constantly in fashion consciousness just as their city is improving in its national importance.

(5) WASHINGTON—"The refreshing look"—Here the business girl proves it is possible to dress well on a budget when one plans carefully.

(6) Philadelphia—"The pert look"—The quiet smartness of their city is reflected in the unerring choice of beautiful, wearable clothes.

(7) Dallas—"The piquant look"—Beautiful girls and beautiful clothes in a beautiful city.

(8) San Francisco—"The intriguing look"—Western charm with eastern flair for distinctive dressing.

(9) Salt Lake City—"The wholesome look"—Simple, casual living, in clothes with a fashion rightness.

(10) Seattle—"The exciting look"—A plus quality in a city where everything seems to be a little "extra."

Well, boys, there's where the best dressed clothes horses dwell—according to Mrs. Dengel and her poll pals. But they name no community where a man with a slim pocketbook can find a lass and keep her in the finery she wants to become accustomed to.

I CAN HELP OUT there—although you need a passport.

Off Java, in the Dutch East Indies, there is a small island called Bali. On it dwell oodles of simple barefoot girls with a sweet backward look.

They are beautiful, they weave their own clothes from silk or cotton, and they're in the height of fashion with only a half-sarong that stretches from the waist to the ankle. This given them half of the "new look"—and the rest is all outdoors. The only hat they wear is a water jar.

A man could go there with a pocketful of cotton seeds and a hatful of silkworms and keep his lady in style forever.

WHY YOU MUST SAVE FUEL OIL NOW

Here's the problem that must be faced

YOU...your neighbors...your schools, your hospitals...are faced with a serious situation—the possibility of not having enough fuel oil to last the winter. Never before has it been more important that you save fuel oil and kerosene.

This is the case despite the fact that right now, more oil products are being produced and delivered than ever before in the nation's history. With more oil burners, more cars, more diesel trains, planes, farm machinery, the demand for oil exceeds even peak war years. Oil is asked to do—and does—more all the time!

This is what we're doing to meet the situation

EVERY BRANCH of the oil industry is working at breakneck speed to meet the ever-growing demand. Production of oil products is now at an all-time high...oil reserves at a record high level.

The oil industry is spending over 4 billion dollars to find new sources of supply...to expand refinery and distribution facilities...to provide extra, faster methods of transportation. But in this industry, as in many others, there are difficulties in obtaining necessary materials to expand facilities—refineries, means of transportation, storage. To correct the situation will take time.

In the meantime, there's one way you can help: save all the fuel oil you can...right now! It's the best way you can insure yourself having enough fuel oil the rest of this winter.

Here's how you can help stretch the supply

Save MONEY...save FUEL OIL...help stretch the supply.

1. Keep temperature at moderate level—not more than 68 degrees. Turn thermostat to 68 or below at night.
2. Keep doors, windows closed, shades drawn. Close off unused rooms.
3. Install storm windows and insulation to keep heat in...cold out.
4. Have your heating system checked to be sure you're getting the most efficient use of your fuel oil.

If everyone cooperates, the current "pinch" need not last too long. As soon as it is humanly possible, there'll be enough oil for your ever-mounting needs. The greater your cooperation, the sooner that day will be.

If everyone saves...there will be enough for all

What's Ahead for Palestine

Steps Already Taken To Start Jewish Country Under UN Plan

By MAX HARRELSON
Associated Press Writer

The Jewish Agency for Palestine, backed by Zionists throughout the world, already has taken steps to establish the Jewish country provided for in the United Nations plan to partition Palestine.

Although Zionist leaders were not fully satisfied with the partition scheme, they have accepted it as a partial fulfillment of the Balfour Declaration of 1917 in which Britain accepted the idea of setting up a national home for the Jews in Palestine.

The Jewish Agency, which will cease to exist as an official body the day the British mandate is terminated, will form the nucleus of the provisional government for the new country, tentatively called New Judea.

Although final decisions have not yet been announced, Jewish leaders generally agree that Dr. Chaim Weizmann, one of the authors of the Balfour Declaration and long-time head of the Jewish Agency, will be provisional president.

David Ben-Gurion, short, rotund successor to Weizmann as head of the Agency, is slated to be premier, and Moshe Shertok, head of the Agency's political department, is expected to become provisional foreign minister.

Jewish leaders already have approached the state department on the question of financial assistance and some Zionists have suggested that the United States provide ships for transportation of Jewish refugees to the Holy Land. Under the UN partition plan, Britain was asked to make available by Feb. 1 this year a major port and a sizeable hinterland to permit immediate large-scale immigration. One of the present concerns of the Zionist leaders is the possibility that Britain might not carry out this recommendation.

Jewish plans are based on the hope that they can begin admitting refugees at once and have between 100,000 and 200,000 in the Holy Land by 1950. At present there are about 600,000 Jews in Palestine compared with about 1,200,000 Arabs.

Four Main Factions In Jewish Movement

The Jewish Agency for Palestine is recognized by both Britain and the United Nations as the official spokesman for Palestine Jews.

Three other Jewish organizations, all illegal, frequently in the news from Palestine, are:

HAGANAH—This word means "defense arm." It cooperates with the Jewish Agency and is expected to form the nucleus of the security force in the Jewish country.

IRGUN ZVAI LEUMI—Extremist organization originally set up by dissenters from the Jewish Agency. Irgun is opposed to partition. It wants a Jewish country covering all of Palestine.

STERN GANG—Also extremist, led by Abraham Stern, split away from Irgun because its leaders thought the Irgunists too moderate.

NEW PROGRAM SET IN SCOUT ACTIVITY

Advancement Plan Outlined to District Heads.

A new advancement program was explained by Karl D. Bechtle, district advancement chairman, and appointments for the year were announced by James E. Frew, district chairman, at a Marion district Boy Scout committee meeting Tuesday night in the Boy Scout office.

Under the program, issued by the national Scout organization, each troop will conduct its own advancement board of review and courts of honor for scouts of first and second class rank. Boards of review and courts of honor for star, life and eagle scouts only will be held in the district, the board of review to be set up as a character court. This program will be put into effect April 1.

Appointments made by Mr. Frew include the following: George Power, vice chairman; Karl D. Bechtle, advancement chairman; William Spurr, leadership training chairman; J. K. Staats, camping and activities chairman; James Mautz, health and safety chairman; Ben Peterson, finance chairman; James Graner and W. T. Buchanan, publicity chairmen; Chief William E. Nichols, division committeeman.

Events for the next six months were outlined by Owen Meddles, field executive, and Karl Knirk, institutional representative, reported on the progress of the Boy Scout participation in the March of Dimes. Howard Ropke gave a district committee report and introduced new men into the group. Prayer by Hugh Hay, scout executive, and the pledge to the flag led by Dr. Greetham opened the meeting.

Visitors were present from Springfield, Caledonia, Marseilles and Portage.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

MR. "K.", my father's FBI aide, turned to Philip Veritzen with a mingling of militance and deference that fascinated me.

"If you are willing, sir, I should like to have one of your guards outside come in here for a minute or two," he said, and I wondered just what he would have done if Philip had refused his request. But I had no doubt that the guard would have come inside, and I was sure that the owner of the Lansfield shared my conviction. His voice was cordial in acquiescence.

"Of course, of course, my boy," he said. "This thing is in your hands. Do anything you like."

"Thank you, sir," the FBI man said, and if his risibles were stirring, nobody could detect their movement. "Will you please ask him to come in here to me?"

Philip said something in a low voice to the men in the hall, and in another two seconds, one of the two men was standing in front of Mr. "K."

"Dicky," the FBI man said, "will you turn your man over to this guard, and take your wife out to the elevator? Mr. Veritzen, do I understand that when the man on the elevator gets us down wherever we are alighting, he may go on with us until we get out of the hotel?"

"Until then, and as long afterward as you need him," Philip Veritzen told him.

"Thank you, sir, again," Mr. "K." told him, "and good bye."

Before he had finished speaking, Dicky had transferred to the guard the bound man he was conducting to the door, and had put his hand beneath my elbow.

"I take Madge out first?" Dicky queried.

"Yes," Mr. "K." replied. "Put her at the back of the elevator. Then we'll get in with these babies."

In another minute we were inside the elevator. Dicky put me in a corner, and stood in front of me. Then Mr. "K" and the guard, guiding the two blindfolded and hobbled prisoners, came up to the car.

"Now Dicky, if you'll take this lad," Mr. "K." said, leading the man up to my husband, who promptly grabbed his arm, "I'll take the other one."

He stepped out of the car, and gripped the arm of the man Philip Veritzen's personal guard was holding.

"I'll take over now, thank you," he told the guard. "Go back to your comrade, and go on acting under Mr. Veritzen's instructions. He just lent you to us for these few minutes."

"That's okay," the man said, and joined the other guard, while Mr. "K." walked his prisoner into the elevator.

"Mr. Veritzen says you are to leave the elevator when we reach where were going, and come with us," he told Winters, "Is that your understanding?"

"That's right," Winters answered.

"Then we're all set," the FBI man said. "Let's go!"

The car shot downward to a sub-basement floor that I well remembered. When it stopped, and Winters opened the door, Mr. "K." spoke briskly to Winters.

"Take hold of the man Mr. Graham's holding, and bring him along," he said, and waited only til Winters had taken over the man Dicky was holding, before leaving the car with his own prisoner. Dicky followed with me, and Winters, coming last, waited only to close the elevator door before joining us.

"Now," the FBI man said, "where do we go from here? I know where we're supposed to land, but I don't know the route."

Dicky made a little gesture to me which meant, "Take over," and I turned to Winters with my father's telephoned instructions fresh in my memory.

"The old way," I told him, careful to say no word which the bound men might catch even if their ears had been stuffed with cotton. "The way we went when you guided us out of here the last time we had need of the other exit."

"I understand," Winters said. "Just follow me, please," then he added a caution.

"Don't forget to duck if a ceiling or a door is too low," he said.

Snow, Snow, Dirty Snow

THE heavy snows of recent days are matted and packed in the streets like brown sugar that has been exposed to moisture. What was once fluffy snow is heaped in drab piles in the gutters. Some streets are as rough as country roads.

The question is: should hard-pressed cities draw on their street and contingency funds for clearing streets, or should nature, in the form of the inevitable thaw, be allowed to take its course?

Snow removal is a make-work, unpredictable activity which contributes as much to permanent wealth as leaf-raking. The largest cities follow varying policies. Except for limited work at intersections, Boston lets its citizens kick the snow around until it gets lost or until it melts. On the other hand, New York sends out crews of more than 10,000 in the wake of every major storm. They man the finest equipment. The bill for clearing New York streets after the record storm of late December exceeded $6,000,000 and some streets are not yet cleared.

The average middle-sized city elects to do no more than it does about snow clearing because it figures that the dollar that might be spent on snow removal will be better expended on permanent street improvement.

Winter Fires

FIRE prevention quits being theory and becomes common-sense precaution when the temperature drops.

As theory, fires are prevented by not doing things that most people never do anyway. But when the weather turns cold, fires are prevented by recognizing the danger of doing things that most people do as a matter of course.

They overheat furnaces in the attempt to keep their houses warm. They store hot ashes in inflammable containers. They thaw out frozen pipes with torches. They use auxiliary heaters. They stand too close to the flames in the search for warmth.

The results are evident in almost every edition of a newspaper during a cold snap. The same accidents recur year after year and are cited endlessly by fire-prevention authorities.

Fire is a major hazard, especially when the temperature drops. The only way to hold risk at bay is to think twice before doing anything that might cause a disaster—then on second thought to do something safer.

The Heretical Comrade

EUGENE VARGA, the Russian economist, is in disgrace because he followed a "reformist" line and refused to concede that capitalism was on its last legs. What's worse, he refused to repent when given a chance.

The mistakes he made are grave ones. He said the capitalist state may play a decisive role in a peacetime or a wartime economy. This equivalent to conceding that the 11 billion dollars worth of lend-lease supplies Russia received from the United States aided in turning back the Nazis.

Another of Varga's heresies was calling for cooperation between Communist and capitalist states. This wasn't heretical 10 months ago when Stalin told Harold Stassen: "They—the United States and the Soviet Union—certainly can cooperate. The differences between them are of no substantial importance since the matter in question is their cooperation."

The Soviet Union is an unhappy land for any man who has the strength of his convictions and makes his living by putting his opinions on paper. If they don't conform to the party line at the moment, he is in disgrace—or worse.

How Long Is "After a While?"

EIGHT bills are before the house agriculture committee to repeal federal oleomargarine taxes, but no action is likely in the near future. "We'll hold hearings on them after a while, but there are a number of other things to get out of the way first," according to Committee Chairman Hope of Kansas.

Representative Murray of Wisconsin says the oleo tax repeal bills are "just one phase of the insidious attempt to wreck our livestock industry."

Strong legislative inertia will have to be overcome to bring oleo tax repeal to a vote. The comments above are a fair sample of what the legislation is up against.

The Big Man from Dixie

THE SOUTH has a governor who modestly offers himself for the Democratic presidential nomination. He is Alabama's James E. Folsom, who says President Truman "has got himself hog-tied by the monopolists, the brass-hats, the grain speculators, the Wall Street lawyers and the state department fancy pants."

Governor Folsom, who is 6 feet 8 inches tall, has enlivened politics in his home state by his homespun talk and his feuding with the newspapers, the radio stations and assorted political enemies.

A few in the South have tried to fill the shoes of the late Huey P. Long. Governor Folsom's pronouncements indicate he is preparing to try them for size.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

An Open Letter to Lana Turner of the Movies.

MISS LANA TURNER
Hollywood, California

My Dear Miss Turner:

The other day, I saw you in "Cass Timberlane" and I have been thinking about you ever since. In that picture, "Cass Timberlane," you do some grand things. Yours is a warm part and the audience loves you and sympathizes with you and is genuinely happy that it all turns out well in the end, that you and your husband make up and will live together in marriage.

Then I pick up the newspapers and the gossip columns and read of your doings and purported doings and it is all such a sad disappointment.

SOKOLSKY

And the reason for the disappointment is that you people in the movies look very real on the screen. It is somehow a living personality with whom one spent a few hours. I suppose that is why the public is so interested in your doings.

Never before has gossip been as important in newspapers or radio as today—when so much is written about the private lives of famous and even obscure personalities. The public seems to be inordinately interested in your private lives. To very young people, some of you movie stars are as real as members of their own family. That is a great responsibility.

I know a teen-ager who can name every husband of every movie star and all those who were reputed to be lovers of this one and that one. And her mind seems to be full of such doings. It is not a wholesome thing, that. It is, in fact, degrading that to such a young person the institution of marriage is a ladder of many rungs, each rung representing a husband. She can tell me who has had two, three, four or five husbands and how many husbands have had how many wives.

I once saw a motion picture in which a comparatively new actress played a beautifully ecstatic religious role. She was glorious. I was so deeply moved that I almost felt her beautiful hands touch me with a blessing.

Just the Movies

Then it happened. A noisy divorce with shattering gossip. It was nothing but movies.

Why does not someone produce a movie to show that divorce is an excellent institution? Why, for instance, in "Cass Timberlane," don't you in the end go off with the cad who steals his best friend's wife? Actually, neither you nor your producer nor the corporation that employs you would dare produce such a picture. Who wants a cad to win? Who would support the notion that the grand institution of marriage should be sacrificed to whim and restlessness? You could not get any box-office for such a picture—not even those who live that way would come to see it.

Yet, you people who live in a play world can somehow divide your personalities. Every word you speak before the finale of "Cass Timberlane" is a great preachment. But to whom are you preaching? To the youngsters in your audience? To the millions of adults who have lived their long lives together in the sacrament of marriage? To whom are you preaching?

Hollywood can do much to elevate the manners and morals of the American people. It can prove not only that crime but sin does not pay. You did that, of course, in "Cass Timberlane." You do it wonderfully in that picture. And then the preacher comes to life at a party—the life of the party. And the illusion of goodness, of high-minded, right-living is gone. Something not romantic, not beautiful, not glorifying—something cheap has happened.

And then one wonders whether the old-fashioned preachers and teachers did not give our children a better guidance. Already a great many Americans are restricting their children with regard to movie-going. They do not want their children's heroes to be one-punch cafe rowdies; they do not want their daughters' heroines to be multi-married and divorced ladies. Shall we keep our children away from the movies altogether because so many movie stars cannot behave themselves?

Perhaps you have an answer to all this? You did answer in "Cass Timberlane."

Yours sincerely,
GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY.

A Quiet Appeal
To the Silent Vote

A New Hampshire railroad man is seeking the vice presidential nomination in that state's Democratic primary.

There's a chance for Truman to clinch the Brotherhood's vote.

The Democrats, being in need of an experienced campaigner, might go for this man who has spent his lifetime running....if only on the railroad.

Certainly, if elected, he'd feel right at home in the senate. There's so much railroading there.

Moreover, it would be great stuff if he ever became president. He could call his memoirs "From the Roundhouse To the White."

Incidentally, the gentleman in question is running on a platform of complete and continuous silence. If elected, he'll be the only candidate in history who won't have to take back a word he said.

The Longs Are Back

By Raymond Moley

NEW ORLEANS—They apparently made the famous grave before the monumental state house in Baton Rouge too shallow to contain the spirit of the great Kingfish. Once more, a Long is on the way to the governorship.

Earl K. Long, brother of the late Huey, outdistanced his opponents in the primary last week by such a tremendous vote that it is hard to see how he can be stopped in the run-off primary on Feb. 24.

MOLEY

Earl has neither the violence nor the smartness of Huey. His chief assets are his name and a dogged persistence. However, his campaign was skillfully handled, and on primary day the parishes, from the cane brakes to the northern hills, responded as they did in the days of the dictatorship. The Long managers thought of every vote-catching device developed in their extensive experience.

No Break Evident

It had been rumored that Earl had broken with Huey. To combat this alleged heresy, the Long family was brought forth. Huey's widow was induced to speak on the radio. Huey's son appeared with Earl. This young man has some of the ability of his father. He had a notable college record, served in the war and is a lawyer. Since a governor cannot succeed himself, it is believed the young man will be the Long candidate in 1952.

Running against Earl Long were Sam Houston Jones, former governor; Judge Robert Kennon and Congressman James H. Morrison. They finished in that order.

Jones will confront Long in the run-off. But his chances look dark. Long will retain his own vote and probably get most of the votes cast in the recent primary for Morrison. Most of the Kennon strength will probably go Jones, but unless a big stay-at-home vote turns up, Jones will again run behind.

Blow To Good Government

The come-back of the Long element in Louisiana politics is a bitter blow for the thousands of people who want good government in the state. It is also a serious problem for the leaders of business and civic progress in New Orleans. This city, which enjoyed a remarkable growth during the war, has developed immense plans for the development of industry and foreign trade.

Huey Long's harrying of business and the bad advertising which came from the scandals were serious handicaps. It was thought in 1940, when Jones was elected on a reform ticket, that the turn had come. This feeling was strengthened in 1946 when the old machine was defeated in New Orleans and a reform mayor, De Lesseps Morrison, was elected. A victory for Long threatens business with further attacks and it would seriously limit the capacity of Mayor Morrison to carry out his plans. The fact is that Long's position dims the hope that Mayor Morrison can be re-elected in 1950.

The packers of Jones are prepared to conduct a powerful and desperate campaign in the run-off primary. The success of this effort now seems doubtful.

Relief for State Department

By Walter Lippmann

SECRETARY MARSHALL and his successors will be among those who benefit the most from the refusal of Senator Vandenberg and his committee to put the European recovery program under the State Department. They will be relieved of a great burden.

The argument in favor of the original proposal was that since the program is an engine of foreign policy, it must be subordinate to the secretary of state. If that were a sound view, then every other department and agency of government which acts outside the three-mill limit should also be under the direct control of the secretary of state.

LIPPMANN

Under this theory of government he would become in effect the prime minister; yet in the American system it is not the secretary of state but the president who makes foreign policy and conducts foreign relations. The president can be, and has often been, his own secretary of state. But the secretary of state cannot be his own president.

Even when the president recognizes his own limitations, and selects, as Mr. Truman has, a man of great prestige and superior ability, it is impossible to delegate to the secretary of state the conduct of foreign relations. They involve so many departments of government so continually and so intricately that they cannot be controlled, or even co-ordinated, by the head of one of these departments.

When the State Department attempts to do what only the president can do, it does not really take control of all the multifarious activities which enter into foreign relations. It becomes a kind of receptacle of those activities which have not been preempted and nailed down by some other departments, as for example, propaganda; or are white elephants, as for example, the military government of occupied areas.

Becomes Unwieldy

The most serious consequences of taking over so many ill-assorted operations has been that the department has become an unwieldy bureaucracy. The unwieldiness of the machine causes the responsible men at the top to become so immersed in the details that the great decisions of high policy are really made in bits and pieces by subordinates down deep in the bureaus.

Policy is not formed at the top by men who have time to consider the whole situation. They are too busy for that. They make policy in the main by settling disputes which come up to them from below.

The difficulties have been compounded by the practice which Mr. Byrnes adopted, and Mr. Marshall has continued, which is to treat the secretary of state as a roving ambassador. No one can form and plan and really direct a global foreign policy—particularly one so vastly overextended as our own is today—if he is away from Washington attending international conferences or making speeches so much of the time.

A consecutive, systematic, and thoroughly considered judgment cannot be arrived at by long distance telephone, from cables and through occasional consultation.

Correction Needed

It was never more necessary than it is now that this condition be corrected. On the one hand the country has commitments all around the world which if they are not to be beyond our resources and our power, require careful and consistent judgment and planning. On the other hand, the situation, as Mr. Churchill said the other day, is evolving rapidly to a point where things are coming to a head.

If we are prepared, lucid, resolute and inventive, it may be that events can be developed which can lead to a settlement of the war we have won and of that other war which all must dread.

Only men who are not too busy to think can hope to be prepared. They will be much too busy to think if from day to day, and at any hour, they are called upon to listen to the anguished entreaties of foreign ambassadors, to decide the disputes among the departments of the government, to iron out the difficulties arising from agreements that prove to be unworkable, which the administration of the European recovery program will unavoidably demand.

That would mean only that in assuming too much control of the Marshall plan, the State Department would lose sight of, and would neglect, all the other things that need to be done if the grand purpose of the Marshall plan is to be achieved.

Airport Paving

The mobility and flexibility of our strategic air arm—the heavy bombers—will be severely restricted in any future war unless aggressive research develops stronger and more durable pavement for air fields and improved landing gear for aircraft.

This theory is advanced by Lt. Col. Willard Roper of the corps of engineers, writing in Armed Force, the former Army and Navy Bulletin.

At present not more than two or three airports in the United States have runways strong enough to accommodate the heavy B-36 bombers.

That charity is bad which takes from independence its proper pride, and from mendicity its proper shame.—Southey.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The General Bows Out

General Ike Eisenhower is out of the Presidential Sweepstakes. This disposes of any possibility that the contest will be in Technicolor.

* * *

When Ike took his chapeau out of the ring he withdrew the only bit of gay headgear.

* * *

Like a military man in the White House is not, you had to admit that the Kansas Warren had a monopoly on color. The race now becomes a study in tepid grays.

* * *

The effect is the same as turning off the 500 electric light in a room of kerosine lamps.

* * *

As a spectacle the 1948 contest closes under the heading of a big snow and opens under the head of old-time vaudeville, third class.

* * *

It is probably just as well for the country that we do not elect our rulers via the personal glamour test, but nevertheless it seemed nice having a man in there who had superdoope personality and who could warm you up without the use of hot-water bottles and electric blankets.

* * *

The Abilene Bearcat has everything that wins the cheers, the hand-clapping and the hat tossing. He is one of the few public men today who has a personality on the platform or on the air that doesn't seem pre-fabricated.

* * *

With him in the race we would have had a candidate who carried no portable smile and displayed no personality shipped in sections and assembled by blueprint when needed.

* * *

The word "Genuine" is stamped all over Ike and we think that if he had ever won the nomination on either major ticket we would have seen one of those old-fashioned torch-light brass band, whoop-de-doodle campaigns that would have stirred the mind, warmed the heart, blocked the streets and torn down the saloon doors.

* * *

Maybe that would have made us all too hysterical at a time when we are screwy enough. Anyhow from here in it will be strictly a double feature in the second-run neighborhood theatre routine. If you want to get hot you will have to carry your own heat.

* * *

We remember fewer times when there were so many candidates for the White House who looked like Nanook of the North, with cereal characteristics of Dracula.

* * *

Not that these candidates aren't top Americans of great intelligence and many fine qualities of leadership in the pinches. All we are saying is that they would never win a Mister America contest, even with the rules fixed.

* * *

Ike, we wish you had delayed the announcement until spring. The winter has been cold enough.

* * *

Rejection

"No White House do I seek to take—
It is not my objective";
So states the general who seemed
To some the most elective.

"I never had it on my maps,"
Says Ike in sharp tones, very;
"Let some one lay seige to the joint
Who isn't military."

* * *

"Nothing in the international or domestic situation especially qualifies for this most important office in the world a man whose adult years have been spent in the military service."—General Eisenhower.

* * *

Yoo hoo, MacArthur.

THE WALKING MAN: Eugene Tunney

"The Walking Man," radio's current jackpot mystery, is Gene Tunney. Here's how we dope it out:

Bing Bong Bell:
It's ten, but only one can tell;
The master of the metropolis
Fits his name quite well.

The bing-bong bell is the most-talked-of bell in sports history, the one that concluded the famous long-count round at Chicago. The "ten" are the ten seconds constituting an official knockout, and only the tenth count tells the story.

The "master of the metropolis" stuck us until we came up with "Kingfish." There is a species of kingfish called "tunny" and the dictionary says "Any of several oceanic fishes, especially the common or Great Tunny."

The Poor Deer Peepul

By TRUMAN TWILL

For this day only the subject is politics, in a way the poor deer peepul of which we are a member would like to talk about it for a change.

The poor deer peepul are fed up with professional politicians because the idea lingers that the United States the way to be president is to keep your nose clean and be honest, not to learn how to play inside politics and percentages in Kansas City, Memphis, New York and The Deep South.

The poor deer peepul are tired of the same old faces and the same old yakity-yakity in politics. This is because they think that the brains, if any, back of the same old faces must get worn out and dried up after so long a time and most of yakity-yakity sounds as if it's time to put in some substitutes.

The poor deer peepul are sick of the same old wrangles, and they are sick because they think most of the wrangles have about as much to do with the state of the union as fake rassling matches. But rasslers at least have enough sense to change the act once in a while.

The poor deer peepul if they never hear about another politician being caught with his hand in someoody else's pocket will think it is too soon because this has been happening so often that little children grow up with the impression that to be a politician is to be a suspicious person—and all too often the little children prove right.

The poor deer peepul have run out of patience with the prevailing malarkey that their votes can be turned on and off, steered to the right or left and made to appear and disappear by characters who have learned how to influence politics without going through the pain of getting elected—characters like the bosses of city unions, and various organizations, including churches. The poor deer peepul still do their own voting in this country, they hope.

They are ready to gag whenever the politicians sound as though they were going to divvy up the country to suit themselves—so much for Joe, so much for Elmer, so much for Jughead which will make Jughead the king pin and the poor deer peepul will be getting better than they deserve, the poor saps...who said that?

All of which is why the poor deer peepul are for a fresh face or a fresh idea in politics like a hungry bass going for a minnow when the moon is in the right phase. This puzzles the professional politician, who register pain and distress because it is base ingratitude. Have they not given the best years of their lives to the poor deer peepul and what did they ever get out of it except a chance to be kicked in the pants when they had worn out their welcome? What did they expect—a job for life?

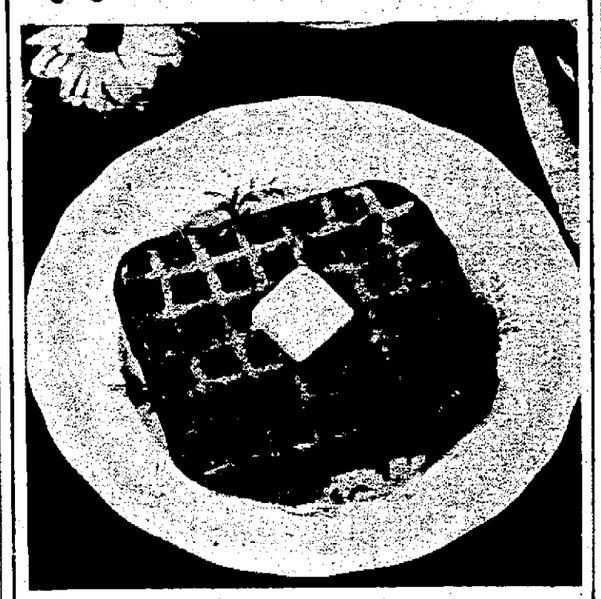
TODAY'S DESSERT IDEA

"Good Luck" Polka Dot Waffles!



Here's a sweet idea for a hot dessert . . . tender waffles with chocolate bits popped in them!

You start with a sweet waffle batter, using GOOD LUCK Margarine for shortening. (Blend in lots of melted GOOD LUCK to make them rich and golden-brown. Keeps them from sticking, too.) Fold in chocolate bits, about a 7-oz. package. Bake as usual.

Then—bring them on, crisp and hot, with a sprinkle of sugar and big pats of GOOD LUCK melting into them. And you have a dessert that's a dream!

Know why GOOD LUCK tastes better? It's made better . . . from the clearest, purest vegetable oils and sweet skim milk, blended in GOOD LUCK'S special way, to give it that natural country flavor.

Try this better margarine on hot biscuits, or browned in casserole dishes, or in sauces. And see how GOOD LUCK makes you a better-than-good cook!

BIBLE CLASS HEARS PARK STREET PASTOR

Negroes' View of Church Discussed by Dr. Choice.

When the Wednesday Noon Bible class met this week at the Y.M.C.A. the luncheon meeting speaker was Dr. G. D. Choice, pastor of the Park Street A.M.E. church. His subject was "What the Negro Christian Is Thinking About the Church."

He declared that the Negro race always has been and still is religious in nature, but that the Negro has not fully grasped organized religion. His religion is more emotional in nature than that of other races.

Among his other comments, Dr. Choice included his opinion of Negro spirituals. The spiritual he maintained is definitely an orginal contribution to Christianity in music and he lamented that present day Negro congregations do not want to sing the spirituals as their forefathers in this country did.

It was announced that next week's speaker will be Dr. Floyd Faust, pastor of the Broad Street Church of Christ in Columbus and outstanding student of family life. He will speak on "What Is Happening to Family Life in America." The meeting, open at 11:45 a. m. and continuing through 1 p. m., will be open to both men and women next week, it was stated.

LEHNER ELECTED TO ASSOCIATION POST

Honor County Commissioner at District Meeting.

Carl H. Lehner, Marion county commissioner, was elected vice president of the Midwestern County Officials association at the quarterly meeting of the group held in the Eagles hall at Celina yesterday.

Over 300 officials and their deputies representing 40 Ohio counties participated in the voting, which elected Sam Rhodes, Mercer county commissioner, president, Lehner, vice president, and Arthur Kattenrich, Auglaize county commissioner, secretary and treasurer.

Scott H. McClure, retiring president of the association, welcomed the officials at the business meeting, which followed an address by Dr. Tennyson Guyers, on "Unity."

The business meeting was followed by an entertainment session which featured "The Men of Note" trio from station WOWO Fort Wayne, Ind.

Visiting officials were introduced to Mercer county officials by Mercer commisisoner Anthony Kleinhenz and taken on a conducted tour of Mercer county courthouse.

The next session will be held in Ottawa in April.

FLOOD BELIES CALIFORNIA'S DISASTROUS DROUTH. Touch of irony in drouth-stricken California is this flood at Newport Beach caused by high tide backing up ocean water through storm sewers.

WALDO DIKE

The dike will go directly through houses and buildings owned by Nevva Sheets, Clyde G. Porterfield, C. E. Sims and C. C. Heales. In addition it will pass directly over the location of one of the oldest buildings in the Waldo community, built in Waldo's early days by Andrew Straub for a home and general store. It was erected approximately two decades before the Civil war. Robert E. Williams now operates a tavern there.

The building housed the first general store in the village and served as the postoffice, as Mr. Straub was the community's first postmaster. It was in this building that Mr. Straub was said to have been host to Gen. William Henry Harrison when the latter was conducting his campaign for the presidency of the United States.

Among the other residence sites being acquired in the Waldo community is the boyhood home location of Dr. Grant Conklin, world famous biologist, who was born in Waldo, and whose accomplishments in science were not so long ago noted in a feature in "Time" magazine, which carried his picture on the cover of that issue.

Army engineers said the dike was planned so as to entail the least possible disturbance to the town's layout. However, a proposal made by Waldo residents that would take the dike out of the village was rejected. Waldo residents suggested the bend of the Olentangy river at Waldo be straightened by a channel and the dike placed along the west side of the channel, thus taking the dike out of the village proper.

This would protect the entire village and in addition eliminate the rerouting of route 98, entailed by the location of the dike, as adopted by the engineers.

A Weak, Run-Down Feeling Is Often A Warning

That The Red-Blood Is Getting Low

If you do not feel like your real self, do not have the urge to be up and doing, why not check-up on your blood strength? Look at the palms of your hands, your fingernails, your lips, the lobes of your ears—are they pale and off color?

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that S.S.S. Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the S.S.S. Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, S.S.S. Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on S.S.S. Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. S.S.S. Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

ARMY TO GET FAST NEW STRATOCRUISER

By The Associated Press

SEATTLE, Jan. 29—A new version of the Boeing stratocruiser which company officials said can carry a heavier load faster and farther than the older types will be turned over to the Air Force as soon as flight tests can be completed.

The ship, the YC-97A, made a maiden flight of one hour and 13 minutes yesterday. Two others are under construction and will be placed in service by the air transport command when completed.

The improved ship, designated as the YC-97A, is 59 per cent more powerful than the similar SC-97 which crossed the continent nonstop in 1945 at an average speed of 383 miles per hour. It can carry more than 20 tons of cargo nonstop 3,300 miles.

ANTI-SOVIET FEELING TO BE GAIN FOR AFL

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 29—The AFL executive council gave every indication today it meant to take advantage of anti-Soviet activity around the world by setting up a rival labor organization to freeze out the Russians.

The Soviet trade unions are members of the World Federation of Trade Unions, in which the CIO also is a participant along with representatives of labor groups in a score of other nations. The AFL never would join, asserting the WFTU is "Communist dominated" because of overwhelming numbers.

A three-man committee within the council is working on a new policy statement which might go so far as to scuttle the AFL's traditional opposition to universal military training, and reverse its historic stand on the theory that U. S. youth must be drilled for defense. The committee plans to report Friday.

President William Green told his news conference here yesterday that in addition to the organization of an inter-American federation of labor among 17 nations in this hemisphere, the AFL planned to appeal to labor groups in Europe, Asia and elsewhere to rival the world federation of trade unions (WFTU).

The population of the United States increased about 25 per cent between 1920 and 1940.

Electrical Price Fixing Suit Now Before U. S. Supreme Court

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—A government anti-trust suit against General Electric Co., Westinghouse Electric Corp. and 10 other firms involving rights of a patent owner to determine prices at which his licensees may sell is now before the supreme court.

The government charges that the 12 companies conspired to fix prices on dropout electric fuse cutouts in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

A federal district court in Milwaukee ruled nearly two years ago that the price fixing was done under patent licenses and therefore within the rights conferred by the patent law under a 1926 supreme court decision.

The district court dismissed the justice department complaint and denied a request for injunctions against the 12 firms, holding that no conspiracy to fix prices existed and that there was, on the other hand, "vigorous" competition among the licensees.

The case has been argued twice before the supreme court on appeal from the lower court. It was one of six on which the court was to render a decision last term and subsequently was argued again last November, early in the present term.

A ruling is now possible at any time.

Patents Involved

The case involves two patents owned by the Line Material Co. and one owned by Southern States Equipment Corp.

The government said that each firm licensed the other to use its patent rights and each retained the right to sub-license others. Sub-licenses were to carry a provision that minimum prices would be fixed by the original patent holders.

In the 1926 decision, which the government now asks "be either overruled or its precise limits defined," the high tribunal upheld a license granted by General Electric to Westinghouse Electric and Mfg. Co.

With that license, Westinghouse made lamps having tungsten filaments and sold them at prices charged by General Electric for its own lamps.

Combined sales of cutouts by the firms, which make practically all cutouts of this type sold in the United States, averaged slightly under $2,000,000 from 1940 to 1944, inclusive.

General Electric sold 30 per cent, the largest share. Westinghouse sold 5.3 per cent of the total.

Protective Devices

Cutouts are protective devices used to break the electrical circuit in which they are installed when the current becomes excessive because of a short circuit or other overload.

Where high voltages are involved, two types are commonly used: The dropout or non-dropout. Either type comprises two insulated terminals connected by a meltable and replaceable wire or fuse link enclosed in an insulating tube.

Short circuit or overload causes the fuse link to melt or rupture. In a non-dropout cutout, the tube stays in position and must be removed by hand. In the dropout type, the tube automatically drops out of place, eliminating the possibility of current leakage and giving easy visual indication that the fuse has blown.

Approximately 2,200 pages of exhibits and testimony were presented by the government and the companies in the district court argument.

The government contends that provisions in the patent law "condoning" price-fixing practices are prohibited by "the general law" and are therefore "illegal per se."

Claim Court "Erred"

Federal attorneys argued that the court "erred" in the 1926 case and said the doctrine of the General Electric ruling "stands as a constant invitation to circumvent the public policy embodied in the anti-trust laws."

They said in their brief that if a patent license were issued on condition of transfer of "stolen goods, lottery tickets or counterfeit money" it could not be contended such procedure was within the patent law and "therefore immunized from the prohibitions of the general law."

Attorneys for the defendants said the General Electric case doctrine "is in accord with fundamental legal and economic principles underlying the patent law."

The companies also said that a number of licensees attempted to design their own cutouts which would not infringe on the patents involved in this case, with Westinghouse achieving "the most conspicuous success" with the invention of "prestite," which was put on the market in 1940.

Other defendants, in addition to Westinghouse, General Electric, Line and Southern are:

James R. Kearney Corp., Schweitzer and Conrad, Inc., Railway and Industrial Engineering Co.; W. N. Matthews Corp.; Porcelain Products Co.; Roy Electric Mfg. Co.; Pacific Electric Mfg. Co. and T. F. Johnson. Addresses were not listed in the briefs.

Seeks Compensation For Act of Ex-Convict

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 29—Ohio's sundry claims board today had under advisement the $81,267 damage request of Herman Brester of Cincinnati. Brester contends the state was an "unseen partner" in an assault on his wife, Dorothy, 47.

Yesterday he told the board his wife, has been unable to perform household duties since she was struck in the head with a hand axe by a paroled convict. Brester argued the state was responsible for acts of its wards.

Welfare Director Charles Sherwood described the claim as not sound and not justified. He recommended Brester be reimbursed for medical expenses. Aproval of the claim would establish a precedent for "many others," he added, however.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Are You "Hobby Happy?"

Funny thing about hobbies... When Ed Carey started making a model of the "Flying Cloud," it was only to rest his eyes from reading. But now he spends every spare moment ship modelling!

Some wives might have resented a husband suddenly shutting himself in the attic every night. But not Ed's Prudence. When she found him working late, she brought him up some beer and crackers... showed a real interest in his hobby ...until finally Ed had her helping with the rigging.

Wasn't long before they were working side by side on Ed's bench, sharing a common interest. Instead of keeping them apart, Ed's hobby brought them more together.

From where I sit, a husband's hobby can often be a wife's as well. In fact, I've got the missus interested in tying trout flies—and, along with that mellow glass of beer, it makes the evenings go by mighty pleasantly.

GOP Plans Legislation To Raise GI Allowances

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—House Republican leaders are laying plans for quick action on legislation to raise subsistence allowances for veterans in school and permit higher pay for on-the-job training.

Rep. Allen (R-Ill), chairman of the rules committee, told reporters the house will act "soon, perhaps next week." He said he had asked other leaders to join him in bringing up the bills under a suspension of rules, a procedure limiting debate and barring amendments.

One would raise the monthly subsistence allowance for single veterans to $75 and give married veterans with one dependent $105, and those with two dependents $120. Single veterans in college now get $65, and married veterans $90.

FIGHT CONTINUED TO FREE SOLDIER

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 — A three-man Cleveland delegation today had a promise from Congressman-at-Large George H. Bender (R-Ohio) that consideration would be given to a congressional investigation of the case of Pvt. Thomas Gusik, 18-year-old Clevelander under sentence of 16 years for the killing of two civilians in Italy.

Efforts by Congressman Robert Crosser (D-Ohio) to have the delegation present its case to President Truman were unsuccessful when Matt Connelly, presidential secretary, explained it was an "ironclad" rule the Chief Executive would not intervene in any court-martial decision which did not involve the death sentence.

An Army board of review announced Monday the youth's life sentence had been reduced to 18 years at hard labor and, at the same time, held his conviction was legally supported.

The shooting for which Gusik was convicted occurred while he was on guard at a military depot near Leghorn, Italy, last August. He was accused of luring a gang of black market thieves near to his post with a promise to let them in the depot and shooting two of them at close range.

RAIL TICKET CLERK ROBBED IN CLEVELAND

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 29—A well dressed man jabbed a revolver through the wicket of a railroad ticket office at Union terminal early today and robbed the clerk of an estimated $1,000.

While some 20 patrons and charwomen stood within 200 feet, the clerk, Kenneth J. Simko, 23, said the robber sauntered up and asked for a round trip ticket to New York City.

As he announced the price, the bandit snarled: "Give me all the big bills," shielding his gun with his topcoat. Simko said he slip the metal till out and told him to take the money.

"Give it to me or I'll blow you up," the robber admonished. Then rejecting some proffered silver, he scooped up the bills and ran.

Simko alerted police with the foot buzzer but the man got away.

BARBARA HUTTON IS ILL IN SWITZERLAND

By International News Service

BERN, SWITZERLAND, Jan. 29—Prof. Walte Hadorn, physcian of Barbara Hutton Trobletzkoy, declared today that the condition of the dime store heiress has shown "certan improvement since yesterday."

Dr. Hadorn explained, however, that it is "still too early to predict she is out of danger."

The physician said that the heiress first suffered chronic inflammation of the kidneys and that a perforation of the lower intestine provoked an incipient paralysis of the intestine.

He denied that the heiress, wife of Prince Igor Troubetzkoy, is suffering from a heart ailment.

Her condition required an operation last Saturday.

Dr. Hadorn said that Barbara originally decided not to give out any information "because of malevolent, ill-disposed information published in the United States about her," adding:

"Finally she agreed to make an exception for International News Servce as she thought it better that the truth be known."

By The Associated Press

of the nation, alleviating in some measure the critical fuel shortage which has crippled production in many industries and brought discomfort to thousands.

The first break in the frigid wave came to the chilled north central region. After three days of temperatures far below zero, readings today generally were above that mark from the Dakotas to Illinois.

There were critical gas shortages in many communities and curtailment of supplies to industries made idle more than 250,000 workers. Business establishments and schools in sections of the south, southwest and midwest closed because of the scarcity of gas.

Another 10,000 workers were idle in Cincinnati and more than 8,000 others in several other Ohio cities.

Service to all industrial users, schools and most commercial establishments in 333 Texas and Oklahoma towns was cut off by the Lone Star State Gas Co. In the Kansas City area of Missouri and Kansas gas also was shut off from 900 industrial users.

KILLER OF SOCIALITE SENTENCED TO DIE

By International News Service

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Jan. 29—Robert A. Watts, 25-year-old Negro convicted of the murder of Mrs. Mary Lois Burney, Indianapolis society matron, is under sentence today to die in the electric chair "before sunrise May 10."

An all-male jury of 10 farmers, a florist and a merchant found Watts guilty of first degree murder while attempting criminal assault. The jury deliberated four hours.

Judge Harold Barger sentenced Watts to death in the Michigan City, Ind., state prison.

The body of the 39-year-old socialite was found last Nov. 12 by her husband, Herschel Burney, a food broker, when he returned to their suburban Indianapolis home. She had been shot in the head with a shotgun, and a butcher knife lay nearby. The home showed signs of a terrific struggle.

Before the trial police said Watts also confessed he fatally stabbed Mrs. Mabel Merrifield, 68, prominent Indianapolis club woman and wife of a former assistant attorney general of Indiana. He also admitted attempted assaults on other women.

Then U.S. people on the average now consume three times as much cocoa and chocolate as they did in the years between 1909 and 1916.

The third anniversary of the founding of Youth for Christ in Marion will be observed at a meeting Saturday night at the Masonic hall, with the special celebration featuring a large "birthday" cake and other appointments of a "birthday" party. Guest speaker will be Rev. Spencer DeJong of Youth for Christ International, head of the Holland Youth for Christ team. He has traveled to the Netherlands twice in connection with youth work and his message will include experiences there. Dr. C. E Hershey, director of the Marion Youth for Christ, who established the moverent here in January, 1945, will be in charge

International Included will be the Singing Strings trio of girl violinists, Nancy and Ruby Liechti and Marilyn Palm, wth Virginia Wosey as accompanist, and a vocal quartet composed of Paul Nelson, Leon Anderson, Jerry Nuznoff and Jack Rollings

Motto of Marion Group

"Geared to the times but anchored to the Rock," is the Marion Youth for Christ motto. Purpose of the organization is declared to be 'to reach youth for Jesus Christ, preaching of the Gospel in the language of teenagers, and a God-centered program pleasing to young people," and it is claimed that "a large number have responded to the call of Christ to follow Him and give tnemselves in Christian service."

Marion Youth for Christ has a charter from Y F.C International and is affiliated with this youth movement generally. Besides the work the international has done in this country, it has sent into many foreign countries, teams of workers including Dr. Hershey and Rev. Marvin Lewis who was until recently codirector of the Marion movement. They traveled to Central and South America last year to launch Youth for Christ programs there and have spoken in a number of states at Youth for Christ meetings. Dr. and Mrs. Hershey established Youth for Christ in Alaska also, since the founding of the movement here.

Only Free Will Offerings

With no financial backing other than freewill offerings and gifts of those interested in young people, the work of the Marion organization has been carried on with monthly services and from time to time a special concentration of effort in campaign of several days duration. The advisory board is composed of a group of laymen who under the leadership of Dr Hershey and Rev. Lewis have guided the local activities. This board holds a business meeting early in each month to formulate plans for the Y.F.C. meeting of that month. Speakers are engaged several months ahead. Meetings are the last Saturday night of each month at the Masonic hall.

At a recent meeting of the advisory board election of officers was held, with Marion Brown named secretary; Kenneth Connolly, treasurer and Harry Crowner, assistant; W. A. Hough, chaplain, and Clifford Ward, James Sanderson and Lou Massie, assistants; David Brown, advertising manager and Paul D. Lister, assistant; Paul McAllister, head usher, and Howard Jones, assistant. Dr Herhey will continue as director and Rev. Robert A. Maugans will be music director. An expression of the board was made that "As M.Y.F.C. begins its fourth year of existence, it is the hope and prayers of the board that it will continue to grow and be a vital factor in this city's youth activities."

Pastors' Convention Closes in Columbus

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 29—Ohio Protestant clergymen concluded their twenty-ninth annual convention today, endorsing the Marshall plan and asking congress to admit 100 000 European displaced persons annually for the next four years.

The pastors urged congress to approve European aid "without reservations," and without imposing "conditions upon European countries that seem to require them to copy American political or economic patterns."

Rev. Thomas Chryer, African Methodist Episcopal minister from Sandusky, said in opposition.

"I object to heavy expenditures abroad in view of the poverty we have in the southern sections of this country."

Other resolutions favored grain reduction to distillers, local option on county levels and a state fair employment practices commission.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

THERE'S talk in congress of raising the pay of government workers. It's not very excited talk.

That would include those making under and over $10,000 a year. The $10,000 is pretty much a dividing line.

No one can come up through the government's civil service system and, while still a civil service worker, make more than $9,975. That's tops.

For example: 1,796 people make $9,975. The majority of bureau chiefs, like the heads of the census bureau and bureau of standards, make that.

James Marlow

To make $10,000 or more an official has to be elected or appointed. He can't be in civil service.

For example: The three commissioners who run civil service were appointed by the President. Each makes $10,000.

There are 1,360 who make $10,000 or over, including the President.

Today in the government's executive branch, and that includes the President, there are 2,022,229 workers.

(This figure does not include people who work for congress or around the courts. They're not in this story.)

The average pay of a government worker is between $2,800 and $2,900 a year, according to the civil service commission.

This will show the range of pay in the civil service system.

It runs from the lowest pay—$1,756 for typists and messengers and $2,103 starting pay for stenographers—to $9,975 for bureau chiefs.

THOSE CIVIL SERVICE workers get paid according to the classification in which they work, since there's a fixed pay for each classification.

Civil service workers got a raise of about 14 per cent a year in 1946 from congress. Postal workers got a little more.

There are bills in congress now to give the civil service workers, and that includes postal workers, another raise.

Yesterday Agriculture Secretary Anderson told the senate's civil service committee that those getting $10,000 and more should get a raise. Why?

To get good men to work for the government—a number making $10,000 a year have quit for better pay in business—and to meet high living costs since some of those $10,000-and-over jobs have been frozen for years.

For example: Since 1874 the pay for collector of customs in New York has been $12,000.

THE PRESIDENT'S PAY is $75,000 a year. It's been that since 1909. Pay for members of the federal trade commission has been $10,000 since 1914.

And the pay for members of the President's cabinet has been $15,000 a year since 1925.

In 1946 congress gave itself a pay boost from $10,000 a year to about $15,000. In doing so it raised the pay of the speaker of the house from $15,000 to $20,000.

And it boosted the pay of the vice president, who presides over the senate, from $15,000 to $20,000. But the vice president was the only one in the government's executive branch who got a raise from congress then.

Bills are being readied in congress now to raise those $10,000-and over people from $1,000 to $5,000 or more a year. But that doesn't mean congress will ever do anything about the bills.

THIS WILL GIVE A sketchy idea of where the top government pay goes:

Next to the President, the highest paid person is the chief justice of the United States. He gets $25,000 a year. The other eight supreme court justices get $20,000 or $5,000 a year more than the cabinet members.

Some ambassadors get $20,000 a year, too.

The manager of one of the government's atomic field plants gets $18,000.

That's $500 a year more than the $17,500 salary of the chairman of the atomic energy commission. The other members of the commission get $15,000.

The job of chairman of the civil aeronautics board used to get $12,000 a year but in 1942 congress cut it down to $10,000. President Truman has been trying to get a good man to fill that job now.

The undersecretary of state job, one of the most important in the government, pays $10,000 a year.

Dean Acheson quit that job last year, after years of service, to go into private law practice and make more money.

Can She Bake a Cake?

ORANGE ROSETTES . . . New thrill for cake-eaters.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

The other day Martha Jane Tupper called me and asked me to come right over to her test kitchen, where she tries out citrus fruit recipes, if I wanted to "taste something good." I went and I wasn't a bit sorry! Since we did food work together for a magazine for a number of years I had an idea that "something good" would turn out to be an understatement. It did. She had concocted the most delicious small orange cakes, and I know right now that it's going to be one of my favorite recipes for 1948—yours too if you try it.

It reminded me of a recipe I've seen but never tried in my mother's handwritten cookbook, but the older version includes ground raisins. Martha used pecans instead; I suspect this is because she comes from Fayette, Mo., where pecans grow in her backyard.

Martha Jane said that she had found at least part of her inspiration for making the cakes in my kitchen. Among my collection of old cooking utensils I have one of the earliest muffin tins made in this country—a handmade affair blackened with age, with each irregular pan riveted on crudely and separately—and she had admired the decorative way it hung against the kitchen wall. When she went home to Fayette for a visit recently, she couldn't wait to bring back a perfectly beautiful old iron gem pan, which had been her grandmother's, to decorate her own kitchen and to use for these particular cakes. I ate three of those wonderful little cakes right away and couldn't wait to bake them at home.

We hope you'll find this recipe for Orange Rosettes easy to follow and that you'll make them with success and enjoy them as much as we did!

Orange Rosettes

One and-fourth cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅓ cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, ½ cup chopped pecans, ½ cup orange juice.

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and baking soda. Cream shortening; gradually add sugar, blending thoroughly after each addition. Beat in egg. Stir in orange rind and pecans. Add dry ingredients alternately with orange juice, mixing well but quickly. Fill greased 2-inch shallow muffin pans 2/3 full. Bake in moderate (375F.) oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from pan; cool. Insert fork into cup cake and dip in the following Orange Syrup, striking fork lightly against edge of pan to allow excess syrup to drop off. Place on rack to cool. Makes about 22 cakes.

Orange Syrup

One-half cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1 cup sugar.

Combine orange juice, orange rind and sugar in small sauce pan; stir over low heat until sugar is entirely dissolved. Increase heat and boil rapidly for 5 minutes or until 230F. temperature is reached on the candy thermometer.

FAIRFIELD CO. DINNER HELD

275 at Annual Event Given for Employes Credit Union.

Approximately 275 employes and guests attended the annual shareholders' dinner given by the Fairfield Engineering company at the Masonic Temple Wednesday night for the Employes Federal Credit Union.

Following dinner music by Miss Virginia Grover at the piano and group singing led by Arthur Ward, J. H. Harmon, president of the union, opened the business meeting by receiving reports from the various officers and committee chairmen. Upon recommendation of the board of directors, it was unanimously voted that a 3 per cent dividend be declared on all deposits. Mr. Harmon pointed out that the purpose of the credit union was two-fold—to stimulate savings and to make available a ready source of low-interest loans to Fairfield men and women. It was stated that more than $30,000 has been loaned out during the 12 years that the union has been in existence.

25-Year Group Honored

J. B. Bray, as toastmaster, introduced the eight men who had been in Fairfield employ for 25 years or more: H. B. Walker, O. A. Wheaton, R. W. Brown, E. R. Houser, C. O. Brown, E. L. Bush, James Harmon and J. B. Bray. The musical part of the program was supplemented by songs by a quartet of Harding High school seniors, all members of the 1947 football team and by several selections by the Harding brass sextet, including a medley entitled "Memories of Stephen Foster."

Speaker was Dr. Floyd Faust, pastor of the Broad Street Methodist church in Columbus for the last 19 years. Mr. Bray, in his introduction of Dr. Faust, stated that he had received degrees from four Ohio universities, is a past president of the Columbus Federation of Churches and the author of many widely read articles on parent education and home relations.

Dr. Faust's Talk

Dr. Faust emphasized the importance in a community of happy homes and stable marriages and it was to these subjects to which he referred in his topic "Precious Cargo." He warned against the increasingly prevalent spirit to obtain all possible with the least output. His many anecdotes and examples drove home the idea that individuals must yield to each other to form a union and he closed with the admonition that people should strive for the "sense of solidarity and belonging" that results from an association in a sound union.

The program was concluded with a sound slide film, "Careers in Conveyors." The film, originally brought out to interest engineering students in the opportunities existing in the conveyor field, emphasized the wide use that conveyors have in every phase of modern industry.

Epworth Methodist Service Guild Meets

The first meeting of the year of the Wesleyan Service Guild of Epworth Methodist church, with new officers in charge, was held Tuesday night in the home of the president, Miss Mary Jo Stafford of 741 Mt. For the pledge service, Miss Elizabeth Pace accompanied at the piano, and taking part with Mrs. Maner were Miss Stafford, Miss Mary Heininger, past president, and Miss LaVerne Lash district secretary, and each member illuminated her candle from a large candle centered on a white-covered table.

The theme of the meeting was "Make His Way Known." Associate hostess were Miss Heininger Mrs. George Stafford, and Miss Dorothy Snider, and Mrs. J. J. Stafford, mother of the hostess, assisted.

Galion Jaycees Push City Manager Study

Special to The Star

GALION—Reports of the all-state meeting, and plans for a city-wide committee meeting to consider the city manager form of government, highlighted the meeting of the Galion Junior Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday.

Delegates reported on the all-state meeting held in Columbus, Jan. 18. Several reported they said it was the largest all-state Jaycee meeting ever to be held in Ohio, and one of the largest of its kind in the United States.

Woodrow Crissinger announced that plans are now underway for a meeting, Feb. 9, of representatives of various civic organizations and clubs, for the purpose of forming a city-wide committee for the purpose of promoting a city manager form of government in Galion.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

A Nervous System Disorder

Multiple sclerosis is a disorder of the nervous system in which widely scattered damage occurs to the nervous tissue in the brain and spinal cord, and is reflected in difficulty in the use of various muscles, particularly those governing walking and speech.

The condition is tragic, not only because it is long continued, but because in the past there has been no treatment for it. Some patients do improve of themselves after a time, but by far the greatest number continue in a steadily downhill course.

Despite much research, the exact cause of multiple sclerosis has never been discovered. Recently, however, a most promising theory has been advanced. According to this idea, the ultimate cause is thought to be in some disorder of the blood's clotting mechanism. On this basis, it is suggested that the formation of blood clots in the tiny veins of the brain and spinal cord bring about the widespread, "pin-prick" damage to the nervous system so characteristic of multiple sclerosis.

With a working theory of the nature of the disease, it was a short step to devise treatment with a preparation, known as dicoumarin, which has the effect of diminishing the clotting power of the blood. For this reason there is some danger of hemorrhage in the use of dicoumarin; hence, it must be given carefully and in small doses under the constant supervision of a physician.

In carrying out the treatment, a number of patients were put in a hospital for two weeks, and the effects of the dicoumarin on the blood were determined. During the treatment, the patients were tested from time to time and, if any signs of threatened hemorrhage developed, the use of the drug was stopped.

The effects of this treatment were evaluated on the basis of whether or not it prevented the appearance of new symptoms.

Forty-three cases were treated with the preparation over a period of from six to forty-seven months. Twenty-seven of the patients were those who had recurrent attacks and, in twenty-three of these, the treatment prevented any further attacks. In four cases, relapses did occur.

In nine of the remaining sixteen patients, in whom the disease was becoming progressively worse, no effect from the dicoumarin was found. In the remaining seven cases, it appeared that the use of the drug was of some help, since no changes in the severity of the disorder could be detected.

Improvement in the already existing symptoms cannot be expected with the use of this preparation. All that can be hoped for is that the disease can be kept from becoming worse. The treatment is helpful only while it is being used, and the patient, if he is to be helped by it, should continue using the preparation the rest of his life.

Of course, treatment of this type can only be used under the direction of a physician, as a careful check of the blood must be made from time to time to make sure the right amount of dicoumarin is being employed. Furthermore, reaction may occur in the form of bleeding gums, nosebleed, and pains in the back. When these symptoms develop, the use of the drug must be stopped for the time being.

Questions and Answers

N. B.: One of my breasts is noticeably smaller than the other. What would cause this and what can be done about it?

Answer: Just why one breast is smaller than another has not been definitely determined. However, this will cause no difficulty. There is no treatment known at present which will overcome the condition.

SPOT Restaurant keglers have a pretty fair command of the scoring honors in the Classic league at the present time . . . As a team they hold the season's record for the high series bowled—a 3060—and their 783 team single game stands high. In addition, Spot keglers Bill Barber holds the season's high individual series, a 689, bowled three weeks ago . . . High individual single game bowled in the Classic league this season was made by Lou Burdell. He rolled a 278 for Smart & Waddell two weeks ago . . . Maynard Snyder, Art Winterstellar, and Lloyd Kruckeberg all are averaging 184 in that league.

THE CLASSIC LEAGUE should furnish some of the top teams in the coming bowling tournament at the Palace . . . Their main competition will probably come from teams of the All-Star league which bowls on the Marion alleys . . . . Last year the Fahey Banking team of the All-Star league won the team event, Richard Chamberlain the singles, and Loren Morris and Henry Prichard the doubles . . . . This year's tourney starts Feb 7 and some 90 teams have entered. Team events will be run off Feb 9 through Feb. 13 and the singles and doubles on the weekends of Feb. 7 and 14.

Swiss Toss Hockey Dispute from Frying Pan to Fire

Give Nod To A. H. A. After Olympic Committee Rejected Both U. S. Entries

By The Associated Press

ST MORITZ, SWITZERLAND, Jan. 29—One of the knottiest problems since Pierre de Coubertin founded the modern Olympic games in 1896 faced the International Olympic committee today after the Swiss organizing committee for the winter games had tossed the American hockey dispute from the frying pan into the fire.

The call for an emergency session of the committee was issued last night less than an hour after the I.O.C. executive committee had given the heave ho to the rival U. S. hockey teams—the Amateur Hockey Association and the official U. S. Olympic outfit.

Without discussion and without a dissenting vote, the Swiss yodelled back that "the A.H.A. remains qualified to participate in the ice hockey championship within the fifth Olympic winter games."

Blackballed by U. S.

The A. H. A. team, blackballed by the U. S Olympic committee, had been accepted by the Swiss as the American entry long ago. The Swiss rejected the U. S Olympic team.

That placed the I.O.C. in an unprecedented pickle. What the 27 members of the I.O.C. would do to parry the snub to its executive committee was the topic of hotel lobby conversation throughout this winter Olympic capital.

One possible face saver was that the hockey tourney might be allowed to continue, but the winner would be denied the accolade of "Olympic champion."

Pawns of the fuss—American skiers, bobsledders and skaters—are tired of wondering if they are in or out. The USOC has threatened it will scratch the whole bunch if the A.H.A. is allowed to play.

Aren't Shopping for Watches

"After all," one American bobsledder declared. "We haven't given up our incomes, trained for months and come this far just to buy a watch."

In drawing for positions in the two-man bobsled races Friday afternoon, the American No. 1 team drew the ninth spot for the first heat Its driver is Tuffy Latour, and brakeman, Leo Martin, of Saranac Lake, N. Y.

The second U. S., team, Fred Fortunez of Lake Placid, N. Y., and Schuyler Carron of Ausable Forks, N Y., was assigned the third position.

WES DOESN'T WANT ALL HIGH SCHOOL PLAYERS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 29 — Wesley Fesler, Ohio State's head football coach, says he "very definitely" does not want "every high school player in Ohio," and doesn't want that to mean he's de-emphasizing Buckeye football

"We are going out after 33 good players each year and we will get them," Fesler said at the annual athletic banquet of the suburban Fairview Exchange club last night.

Fesler said he was interested in getting prospects who were, first, "men of character, the type all Ohio businessmen would want in their organizations," and second, good football players

PREXIES TO ENGAGE COLUMBUS WEST

Harding Cagers Look for Revenge Win Over Cowboys.

Harding's Presidents will be out to impeach the Cowboys of Columbus West tomorrow night when they journey to the Capitol city to engage the Columbus combine for the second time this season.

In the first encounter between the two schools the Cowboys lassoed, roped and tied the Prexies, and carried off the victory by a 52-38 count

This time the Presidents will be aiming to even the count with West and at same time get back on the win wagon which they toppled from last week at the hands of Ashland.

Jack Thrush, West's high scoring guard, looped eight buckets in his last time out against the Prexies and is expected to be just as tough this time. At any rate, the Harding quintet is preparing to make him work for his points this time, while they get in a few buckets on their own.

In the preliminary game, the Harding Vice Presidents failed to end in the running, as the West Buckaroos held them to 19 points while they collected 35 for their final total, but the Harding second stringers do not expect to be put off tomorrow night. The defeat at the hands of West is their only loss of the season to date

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 — Latest pot-shots during the open season on basketball rules . . . Gordon Ridings, Columbia: "We need nationwide standardization of equipment and officiating. You don't find different types of goalposts in football when you leave your own section of the country" . . . John Lawther, Penn State: "Make courts larger to cut down on fouls. Ten men must now maneuver in a half court, 50 by 45 feet" . . . With all the annual furore about basketball rules, Ken Pryor, Oklahoma U. guard, has managed to play through the last two games without making a personal foul (or anyway, getting caught) and has been charged with only 20 in 11 games . . . Could be the rules are okay if the coaches and players would live up to them

MARTY PETERS, coach at St. Benedict's (Kansas) has a different solution to a lot of basketball coaching woes—he keeps a ball under his feet as he sits on the bench during games. . "I know if I keep my feet on a basketball and start to stand up, I will fall on my face," Marty explains, "so I just remain calmly seated."

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 — Ninety-three of the nation's leading three-year-olds including citation, king of the 1947 juveniles, have been nominated for the mile and a half Belmont Stakes to be run at Belmont Park June 12

The $100,000-added event, to be run for the 80th time, is America's oldest three-year-old classic.

In announcing the nominations, the Westchester Racing association pointed out that the Belmont—third number in America's "triple crown" of racing—would follow the Preakness Stakes at Baltimore by a month, and the Kentucky Derby in Louisville by six weeks.

It Took 3 Overtimes, but Rio Grande Won Over Wilberforce Church, 118-116

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, Jan. 29—"Just about everything the boys threw at the basket went in"

That's how Rio Grande Coach Bob Stoneburner describes the weird 118 to 116 triple overtime decision his team took from winless Wilberforce Church university last night.

"I've never seen anything like it. Every player on each team seemed to be coming through with the greatest scoring night of his career."

The game, played as Gallipolis—Rio Grande's home—ended at 104-all after the regulation 40 minutes. And after the first five-minute overtime the score was 114-all.

The weary players rested a couple minutes, went at breakneck speed for three more—and the score was still tied—at 116.

Use Sudden Death

The two coaches put their heads together and decided the first team to score two points in the third overtime would win, although collegiate rules permit five-minute overtimes until one team is ahead when an extra period ends.

Guard Jack Canady of Rio Grande was fouled immediately after the last overtime began. He sank his charity toss. A few seconds later, Newt Oliver—Rio Grande's one-man scoring gang—was "hacked."

He calmly sank the free shot—and his 59th point That was the ball game.

Twenty-three of Oliver's points came on free throws, boosting his foul line total for the season to 167. Stoneburner claimed this is a new national record.

Wilberforce, which scored only 83 points in its two previous games, was ahead at halftime, 57-46. Eight Wilberforce players scored eight or more points apiece. Rio Grande used nine men.

Mt. Union Takes Kent State

The Gallipolis goings-on rubbed some of the sheen from Mount Union's last-second 35-33 win over Kent State; a triumph that knocked the invaders from first place in the Ohio conference race. Mount Union tripped Kent earlier, but the game did not count in conference standings because it was played in a holiday tournament at Youngstown.

In the other games, Defiance scored five points in the last 53 seconds, nicking 10-times-beaten Findlay, 57-53, and Gene James of Marshall sank a free throw in the final 11 seconds to edge Youngstown, 78-77.

Cardington Pirates Blast Caledonia, 60-48

Special to The Star

CARDINGTON, Jan 29—Cardington High school's basketball cagers, flashing a high powered scoring attack in a rough game against Caledonia last night on the home court, tacked a 60-48 loss on the visitors

In a game which saw only one regular for the Cardington squad finish the contest, the other four going to the showers via the foul route, Yake got 18 points and Maxwell 15 to pace the winners.

Comstock was the big gun for the Caledonia five with a 20 point total as he took game honors while leading the losers It was Caledonia's second loss of the season.

Cardington's young Cards were high flying last night as they doubled the score on the Caledonia junior floormen to end the game on top of a 43-20 count.

ST. MARY TO MEET COLUMBUS ST. MARY

Irish Seek 13th Win in Return Engagement.

Marion St. Mary will play host to Columbus St. Mary tomorrow night in a basketball tilt at Edison gym in the final meeting of the two teams in regular season competition.

The Irish rolled over the Columbus quintet in their first meeting by a score of 36-27 as Dick Scnuler outclassed anyone on the Columbus team in grabbing 15 markers.

Kaiser, a six-foot five-inch center, created the most havoc in the Irish offense in that encounter as well as pacing the Columbus five with 12 points, and is expected to be dangerous in the second fray.

Gene Fetter, in commenting on his team today, was his usual pessimistic self as he hinted that the Fettermen could not possibly win this one. He said that he has been putting his cagers through the regular pre-game practices with a slight emphasis on passing in an effort to eliminate the sloppy ball handling that has prevented the Irish from operating as smoothly as they should.

The Irish will enter tomorrow's tilt with a 12 won, two lost record, Morral being the latest victim of the rampaging Irish

St. Mary's second five will be out for a repeat performance when they meet the Columbus Reserves in the opener tomorrow night, having swept aside the Columbusites in their first fray, 34-20.

The preliminary starts at 7:30 p m.

"Moe" Scarry Leaves Browns To Coach at Western Reserve

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 29—Two football rebuilding jobs were underway here today as newly-signed Coach Michael J. (Moe) Scarry examined his grid material at Western Reserve university, and pilot Paul Brown looked for a center replacement in his All-America conference championship line.

Scarry ended an illustrious career as a pro grid center yesterday signing a two-year contract to pilot the Reserve Red Cats. He also received a one-year extension on his current head basketball coaching post at the local university.

A standout performer for the Cleveland Browns' 1946 and 1947 conference champions, the ex-Waynesburg (Pa.) college star joined the former Cleveland Rams in 1944, and captained the Rams to a National Football league title in 1945 before signing with the Browns.

"Moe has unusual ability to instill spirit into the boys," said Reserve athletic director William Counsell as he recommended Scarry from a list of 84 candidates for the grid job vacated in mid-season last year by Tom Davies.

In accepting the new post and terminating his pro career, the 27-year-old Scarry said he would look for gridders "of intelligence who have good scholastic achievement as well as athletic ability."

The Pennsylvania Irishman said he would use the T-formation, plus a smattering of single and double-wing plays.

Scarry served as an infantry second lieutenant in the North African campaign during World War II, and received his B.A. degree at Western Reserve last year following off-season studies. He took over the cage coaching reins there as an undergraduate in 1946.

Cooler, Sally Ann Win Games at LaRue

Universal Cooler and Sally Ann Inn came out on top in a twin cage bill at LaRue last night, the Cooler quintet dropping the LaRue Indians, 48-44, and Sally Ann whipping Bird-McGinnis Legion, 64-44.

Charles Wynn paced the Coolers with 19 points while Jones and Parish made 14 each for the Indians in the close contest. The win evened the series with LaRue, who defeated Cooler earlier in the season.

Bird-McGinnis gave Sally Ann a fight until the third quarter, but Johnson sparked a 28-point rally that pushed Sally Ann way ahead in the final period. Johnson's seven points in the last frame swelled his game total to 20.

STORK WINS RACE

By The Associated Press

WOOSTER, O., Jan. 29—The stork won a race with an ambulance in sub-zero weather here yesterday as a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Santmyer on the Lincoln highway about 10 miles east of Wooster. Mother and son were reported doing well at a hospital as the ambulance driver remarked: "We have had some close calls before, but that was the first race of this kind we have lost."

BISHOPS IN 2 LOOP GAMES NEXT WEEK

DELAWARE, O., Jan. 29—Ohio Wesleyan's basketball team reached the half-way point in its schedule this week with a record of five wins and four losses.

Last Saturday's game with Goodyear at Akron was canceled because of poor traveling conditions. As a climax to final exams this week, the Bishops travel to Ashland, Ky., to face Morehead State Teachers college in an infantile paralysis benefit game.

In Ohio conference play, Coach Bob Strimer's men rank third with four victories against one defeat. Next week the Bishops meet two loop foes, Capital and Otterbein, in games that will play an important part in determining the final standings.

The Lutherans of Capital, one rung above the Red and Black in the conference, broke even last season against Wesleyan. The Bishops snapped the Lutherans home game win streak at 18 and then lost the return battle at Delaware.

Rugged Sherry Rowland, 210-pound, six-foot four-inch forward from Delaware, is leading the Bishop scorers with 108 points on 39 field goals and 30 free throws. His field goal average is 41 per cent.

Galion P.-T.A. Council Honors M. A. Povenmire

Special to The Star

GALION—M. A. Povenmire, superintendent of the Galion schools who will leave in February to assume duties as principal of the Lakewood High school was honored at the January meeting of the Galion City P.-T.A. Council, Tuesday night.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. John Mortland, council president, expressed appreciation of the council for Povenmire's work with the P.-T. A. This brought Povenmire to the floor with a short talk in which he commended the P.-T. A. for backing the Galion public school program, giving the organization credit for helping give the Galion school system its present high standing in education. Marion E. Shank who was employed recently as superintendent of the Galion schools, also addressed the group, assuring the P.-T. A. Council of his backing.

During the social hour which was held after the meeting at which time refreshments were served, Mrs. Laura Shumaker made the presentation speech when Povenmire was given a desk fountain pen from the Council and the P.-T. A. units.

Delaware County May Hire Appraisal Firm

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, Jan. 29—The announcement that an outside firm may be employed to reappraise Delaware county's real estate for tax purposes was made here yesterday by County Auditor James A. Samson.

The compulsory appraisement required by the tax commission could be completed in five months by professional tax appraisers, Samson believes. "If we do it ourselves instead of putting professionals on the job there is a strong possibility that it will not be done," the auditor declared.

The basis of the 1948 appraisement will be the cost of replacing the property at prices prevalent in 1942 and 1943. Any further action by the auditor's office in adjusting the valuation will be made in straight cuts or raises, Samson continued. The county tax duplicate at the last appraisement in 1943 stands at $26,000,000.

LOUIS APPEARS IN EXHIBITION TONIGHT

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 29—Joe Louis, world's heavyweight boxing champion, appears in a four-round exhibition match in the Coliseum tonight opposing young Bob Foxworth.

And Louis says: "I'm gonna be trying to hit somebody like I didn't hit Walcott."

It will be the champion's first appearance in a ring since he was awarded the disputed 15-round decision over Jersey Joe Walcott in New York last Dec. 5. Joe asserts, too, this will be his last appearance in a Chicago ring. He plans to retire this year.

The Illinois state athletic commission has sanctioned tonight's bout as an exhibition and there will be no official decision. Louis' title will not be at stake the commission ruled, even though Foxworth should score a knockout. The commission added, however, no one can prevent Foxworth from claiming the title—if he knocks out the champion.

Wins Treble Damages Against Auto Dealer

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 29—Myles G. Hoffman of Youngstown, won treble damages against Al Wagner, Youngstown auto dealer, in the state supreme court yesterday. Hoffman was given $489.60, plus $50 for attorney fees, in an action brought under the 1942 emergency price control act. He claimed he was overcharged for auto repairs.

The supreme court affirmed Mahoning county courts.

In another action, the supreme court denied the city of Cincinnati's application for a mandamus writ to compel the state utilities commission to lift an Oct. 28, 1947, order setting an emergency gas rate there. The emergency order was established, pending settlement of a prolonged rate hearing.

Memoirs of Cordell Hull

ing of the American delegation, especially myself. In the circumstances Moley deserved a severe calldown from the President, but unfortunately Mr. Roosevelt sometimes gave his intimates undue liberties over his other friends.

Only when the American delegation, which I headed, was ready to sail for London at the end of May was the question of a conflict between the reduction of tariff and trade barriers at London and the high tariff demands of the NRA and AAA, especially the former, raised and briefly discussed. I stood firmly for the purposes I had in mind for the London conference, principally tariff reductions, and no action was taken to the contrary until after we were on the high seas.

ON MAY 30 the President received the delegation consisting of five other members in addition to myself. The President had appointed these members without consulting me.

Mr. Roosevelt gave us a memorandum on policy to be followed in London. The major problems he requested us to take up at once with the conference were: A tariff truce for the duration of the conference; establishment of general principles of coordinated monetary and fiscal policy; removal of foreign exchange restrictions; an international monetary standard; basic agreement for gradual abolition of artificial barriers to trade and for reduction of tariffs; agreement of control of production and distribution of certain basic commodities. I took with me six resolutions covering these topics to introduce at London.

As I sailed aboard the SS President Roosevelt from New York May 31, I had in my pocket a copy of the reciprocal trade agreements bill which was now on the President's desk. I expected to be able to show this to other delegations at London and to use it to prove to them we were sincere in our efforts to reduce tariffs and also had the power to do so. I hoped that by the time the conference was well under way the President would have submitted the bill to congress and that it would have been passed. As events developed I was not in a position to bring it up except for information.

DURING THE TRIP I began a custom I followed on many similar boat trips to and from conferences in the following years—hard work aboard ship. I have been lucky enough never to be seasick. In the roughest weather I have been able to read and write with facility. I took exercise in long walks around the deck and an occasional game of deck golf. I conducted several shipboard conferences per day with the delegates and experts with me and kept in touch with Washington by wireless.

I reflected that of the three chief economic questions interesting the larger nations at that moment, I was really able to discuss only one at London. The three were war debts, immediate stabilization of currencies, and reduction of trade and tariff barriers. War debts were ruled out completely. Stabilization of currencies was to be discussed at London, but only by treasury and federal reserve experts, apart from the conference, not by the American delegation. There still remained the reduction of trade barriers.

Thereupon I began receiving aboard the steamer wireless messages from Washington concerning new legislation to raise—not lower—tariffs and impose import quotas and indicating that the President would not submit the trade agreements bill to congress. A week after sailing I wirelessed the President, on June 7:

"I earnestly trust reports are unfounded that Congress will not be asked for executive authority to negotiate reciprocal commercial treaties based on mutual tariff concessions with right of congressional veto included as per state department draft of bill. My deliberate judgment is that, in addition to most seriously handicapping the mission of our delegation to the London economic conference it would be a major error to defer until 1934 any authority thus to negotiate this type of commercial treaty."

THE PRESIDENT REPLIED: "I wholly understand and approve your anxiety for tariff action at this session. The situation in these closing days of the session is so full of dynamite that immediate adjournment is necessary. Otherwise bonus legislation, paper money inflation, etc., may be forced . . . Therefore, tariff legislation seems not only highly inadvisable, but impossible of achievement.

"You have full authority to negotiate in London general reciprocal commercial treaties based on mutual tariff concessions. Negotiation requires no prior congressional authorization. In addition, there is no reason why you cannot arrange for conferences to be held in Washington looking to definite reciprocal agreements with individual nations. All such agreements, both general and bilateral, would be submitted for approval as soon as congress reassembles."

This message was a terrific blow. It swept from under me one of the prime reasons for going to London, one of the chief bases I had for hoping that real results could be achieved at the conference to lift the nations, albeit gradually, out of the world depression. The fundamental difference between my position and what the President advocated in his telegram was this:

To me it was essential that congress grant the Executive authority to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements embracing tariff reductions, within certain limits, such agreements to enter into effect without senatorial approval. This was what was done later, in June, 1934. But what the President suggested was the negotiation of tariff treaties on the old basis, which meant they had to be submitted for senate approval by a two-thirds majority. This method offered me no aid or encouragement because no American senate had ever approved a trade treaty negotiated by the Executive which materially reduced tariffs, especially when negotiated without prior congressional authority.

WHEN I ARRIVED in London, I found that delegations of other countries were well aware of the severely handicapped situation in which the American delegation was thus left. The President announced on June 9 he was not going to send tariff legislation to congress. The other delegations promptly shied away from any treaties that would be left indefinitely in the lap of congress.

On June 11, the day before the conference opened, the President cabled me: "Please do not worry about situation here in regard to tariff reductions and removal of trade obstacles. The eleventh hour rows in congress over domestic problems made general tariff debate dangerous to our whole program.

"I am squarely behind you and nothing said or done here will hamper your efforts. There is no alteration of your policy or mine. Remember too, that if we can get treaties signed we can call special session of senate alone in the autumn to consider ratification."

But there was no hope here for me. The President was behind me in words, but I needed actions too if I was to have any success in London.

THE HIGHLY IMPORTANT fact, however, should not be overlooked that wide divergencies existed among almost all nations about an acceptable method of trade barriers reduction. Great Britain was moving toward a quota system. Some of the gold-standard countries like France, Belgium, Holland, and Switzerland were demanding temporary stabilization of currencies before they would consider tariff reduction. Others demanded other prerequisites such as war debt relief.

There was never so much milling around and tugging and pulling as characterizad this conference. It seemed to be moving and operating most of the time in a dense fog. Here the demagogue, the agitator, the perverse person and the chronic critic could keep thoroughly busy.

These contradictory views and attitudes characterizing the London conference extended into the American delegation. There were high-tariff members such as Senator Key Pittman; there were conflicting approaches to the currency stabilization question, and virtually all other questions. Few mistakes can be more unfortunate than for the official head of a delegation to a world conference not to have a chance to consult with the President on the selection of the entire personnel—or at least let the personnel have that distinct impression. Otherwise there is little sense of loyalty or teamwork on the part of some, and open defiance from others. This has been my experience.

258 Delinquency Cases On Juvenile Court List in 1947

Juvenile delinquency posed a major problem for the county juvenile court during 1947. Approximately two-thirds of the 362 juvenile cases coming before the court involved delinquents. The total was 258. These delinquents were charged with the commission of 16 different offenses. About 25 per cent or 65 offenders, were charged with stealing. Ten of these were auto thefts, 19 were burglaries, and 36 were charged with stealing of some other types.

Miscellaneous offenses: trespassing, injury to property, and firearms offenses, accounted for 65 court appearances. Traffic violators made 45 appearances before the court; mischief and carelessness caused 36 appearances. Fifteen truants appeared and 16 juveniles answered the call of the open road, ran away from home, and were returned to juvenile court.

Many Repeaters

Some 70 of the court appearances were made by juveniles who had been there before. Second offenders totaled 40, third offenders 18, and 12 juveniles made their fourth visit to the court.

The decision of the court dismissed 24 juvenile cases, placed 173 on probation to their parents, and 11 on probation to other than parents, 12 were sent to the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster, seven to the Girls' Industrial school at Delaware, nine to the bureau of juvenile research, five were sent to courts outside the county, one was sent to the Women's reformatory at Marysville, 22 were fined and 13 juvenile drivers' licenses were withheld.

Source of Complaints

Police filed 186 complaints against juveniles, schools filed 15, families of offenders voiced 32, while private citizens lodged 22 of the complaints.

March, April and October were leading months in juvenile cases with 32 cases each.

Juveniles in the 14 to 15-year age group made more appearances before the court than any other 103, while the 16 to 17-year group was second high in court appearances with 79.

Home Influence Vital

Home conditions have a definite influence on the juvenile local authorities find. Of 258 cases of juvenile delinquency 99 offenders came from poor home environment, 90 came from homes broken by death or divorce of one parent as compared with 69 cases where home environment was good.

The court dismissed nine adults fined 14, and jailed 14, in cases where they came under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court. Some 19 cases involving adults are continued or pending before the court at present.

Detention home care was ordered by the court in 192 cases. Of this number 142 were placed in dentention for delinquency and 50 were detained because of dependency.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCombs and daughter of Lima; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Foos and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lewis and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Milo Gould and family, all of Harpster; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stuckman and family and Mrs. Dessie Shafstall, all of Bucyrus; Wallace McCombs of Brush Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hite, Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Hite and family, and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McCombs, all of Nevada. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hite.

NOT MUCH, COMMISSIONER, AN EXAMINATION OF LUNSY PROVED THAT THE BLOW MADE A DEEPER INDENTATION THAN HITTING THAT PIPE COULD POSSIBLY HAVE DONE...

FLOURINE OR NOT, WE'LL ALWAYS HAVE DENTISTS

By The United Press

HOUSTON, Tex.—Science will never progress to the point where dentists will be put out of business, said Dr. Willard Ogle of Dallas in commenting on experiments with fluorine to control tooth decay.

Dr. Ogle, secretary of the State Dental Association, said a 10-year study was being made in some Texas communities of fluorine in drinking water. Fluorine has been found to have a marked effect on preventing tooth decay, he said.

The Dallas dentist explained that one part of fluorine is added to about 1,500,000 parts of water where the experiments are being conducted. He said the University of Texas and Baylor University were leading the way in dental research in the state.

"There will always be a need for dentists," Dr. Ogle said, "in spite of scientific advances in the prevention of dental trouble."

By The United Press

CHICAGO — Judge Michael Tremko broke away from law books to suit punishment to the act.

In a case involving two brothers, he decided that mother knows best. One brother had charged the other with assault.

The judge sent both of them home with a message to their mother to "bring you up more carefully."

The brothers are Joseph Pecak, age 30, and Matthews, 32.

And Nothing Can Be Done About It By H. T. Webster

GET THIS, LAURA—JOE SAID HE WAS AT THE COUNTRY CLUB WHEN A FROWSY TRAMP WALKED ON THE FIRST TEE. HE WAS EATING A SANDWICH
THE CHAIRMAN OF THE GREENS COMMITTEE ORDERED HIM TO BE ON HIS WAY, BUT THE TRAMP JUST STARED AND KEPT ON WITH HIS SANDWICH. SEVERAL OTHER MEMBERS CAME UP AND PROTESTED
FINALLY THE CHAIRMAN LOST HIS PATIENCE, GRABBED THE TRAMP AND THREW HIM OVER A HEDGE ONTO THE PUBLIC HIGHWAY. THE VICTIM SPOKE FOR THE FIRST TIME: "THAT'S A FINE WAY TO GET NEW MEMBERS!"
I THINK THAT'S SILLY. IF THAT MAN WANTED TO JOIN THE CLUB HE WOULDN'T HAVE GONE AT IT THAT WAY. HE WOULD HAVE HAD A MEMBER SUBMIT HIS NAME TO THE ADMISSIONS COMMITTEE
